But Pair Make Get-a-way
Early This Morning
At State Line

HIGHWAY PATROL TAKES UP CHASE

Corporal Black and Private M. Demott of the Pennsylvania highway patrol at 1:30 a. m. today went in search of two gasoline station bandits on the Youngstown-New Castle highway but their quest was fruitless. The robbers looted the Ohio Line gas station of five dollars in cash and escaped amid a fusillade of bullets from the "gas" distribution.

According to the state highway patrolmen, two young men, not more than 21 years of age, in a new Ford coupe drove up to the station. One was wearing a hat.

They held up the distributor and looted the cash register of about $10 dollars in cash.

They started across the road and the distributor opened fire with a revolver.

He discharged the pellets then commenced firing with a Winchester rifle and the men escaped the car.

They drove away toward New Castle.

Some 3,000 bushels are coming into the county this spring through the local growers association and there are probably quite a lot more that will be planted.

Interest is heightening in the proposed airplane industry for this city. It takes a lot of work for such a proposition to reach the fore and the local Chamber of Commerce industrial committee are doing more than their share on the matter.

Hey, Chamber of Commerce. Why not offer Marion Talley a farm in western Pennsylvania? Other cities are doing it. Pennsylvania is the best farming state in the union.

The idea of eliminating double parking on the streets of this city seems to have gone to seed. Pa News noted numerous instances of double parking last night.

Those broken milk bottles still litter up the vacant property at Hillcrest and Highland. Time for a clean-up on that property has long since passed. It is an eye-sore at present. The site is too fine a piece of property to allow to be marred by rubbish.

New Castle baseball fans who went to Pittsburgh yesterday to attend the opening game are congratulating themselves on picking a good day. Indications today are that there will be no game played.

YOUNGSTOWN CAR IS RECOVERED HERE

Gene Smith of the Youngstown police department informed the police here last night that his car had been stolen from State street near Jolly street, when a car driven by Raymond Bees which was making a left hand turn from the center of the public square onto East Washington street, State street, where it had evidently collided to road regulations caused him to hit the Bees machine causing damage to both.

Smith was notified and secured his car.

Flight Difficulties

Determined to prevent any transatlantic flights this year, the French air ministry refused to issue a certificate of navigability and a customs pass to Rene Lefevre, top, and Jean Assolant, below, French flyers, when they flew from Paris to Southampton, England, to ship their plane to the United States. They plan to make the flight from New York to Paris in May.

kept busy acting as a "buffer" so that Elmer could obtain much needed rest. The Smith home was filled with flowers from admirers.

"Anyway, there would be no sense in me trying to keep Elmer out of the air," said Mrs. Smith. "I simply could not do it, and neither could her father."

She thinks nothing else but aviation. Why, she gave up school to become an aviator. She would have graduated in three months from the Freepoint high school, but she couldn't keep her mind on her studies. She was spending all her spare time at Roosevelt flying field studying meteorology and airplanes. When she flies to a certain destination she almost lands at the exact spot she says she will. She has it down to a science.

DROPPED IN SWAMP

"I became alarmed when she met with an accident at Hampton Roads when flying here from Miami a few months ago. But she steered the plane into a swamp and was uninjured. She has wonderful presence of mind. Aviators tell me she is an inspiring flyer."

Miss Smith herself was quite modest concerning her latest achievement. Asked how she occupied her time while in the air 26 hours, she said: "Oh, I read Mark Twain's adventures of Tom Sawyer abroad and dreamed of making a trip abroad myself—in my own way."

Her mother remarked that the girl's bankers on her projected New York-to-Rome flight have put up the money but they desire to have their names kept secret for the time being. There was some talk of a flight to Berlin, but Elmer wanted to make it Rome, and Rome it will be.

Judge Plans To Sentence Woman

White-Haired Mrs. Mary Ware Bennett, Will Be Sentenced For Obscene Literature

REFUSE PETITION TO SET ASIDE VERDICT

By DAVID P. SENTNER
International News Service Staff

NEW YORK, April 25.—The motion by defense counsel for Mrs. Mary Ware Bennett, grandmother-author of a scientific sex pamphlet, requesting 10 days in which to prepare arguments to have the conviction of Mrs. Bennett on the charge of sending obscene matter through the mails set aside, was denied today by Federal Judge Warren E. Burrows in Brooklyn.

Judge Burrows said he would sentence Mrs. Bennett next Monday. The white-haired prisoner faced a federal penitentiary term and a fine, or both.

Morris Ernst, attorney for Mrs. Bennett, argued today that the barring of his expert witnesses at Mrs. Bennett's trial by the court might have led the jury to believe that the defense claim that the pamphlet was used by reputable educators was not well founded.

Ernst also argued that the "welfare of the youth of the country was at stake" and that it was not good for the future of the nation in permitting the postmaster general to decide what was and what was not obscene.

Investigate Thoroughly
It is believed that there may be other money or securities secreted about the furniture and a thorough investigation is being made. It is said that Mrs. Dunham had a black bag in which she was accustomed to store gold and silver coins. This bag has not been found.

It is also believed that $500 or $600 more which she was supposed to have, is secreted about the house or premises.

Mrs. Dunham had lived alone in the house for some years. She was known to have considerable money. After her death several weeks ago, no evidence of it could be found.

To Please Hoover.
Administration leaders exhibited confidence that they could pass the bill in a form satisfactory to President Hoover, despite the defection of many western progressives who supported him in the campaign.

The most notable defection was that of Senator Brookhart (R) of Iowa, who appeared for passage of the "wood bill" over the president's veto. He scathingly denounced the farm relief views of Mr. Hoover and accused him of "changing front" since the campaign ended.

Although more than a score of amendments were offered to the house bill before it had been half completed many of these were of minor nature. Wide-spread dissatisfaction with many features of the bill, however, was exhibited in the house.

STAR LORE THE DARK AREAS ON THE MOON.

By Arthur D. Carpenter.

Could one view the earth from a position on the moon he would see many parts over its surface obscured by clouds. As the earth atmosphere cleared there would be times when the sun would be seen beautifully mirrored upon the surface of the ocean. In the same way if there were oceans on the moon the sun would be seen reflected in them. In the early days of lunar observation it was thought the dark markings on the moon might be seas and they were so named. It was a mistake however. The dark markings are largely due to uneven lunar surfaces causing the sunlight to be poorly reflected away from the moon.

The survivors are Jose Pereira, master of the Coburn; Edward Rice, W. Milliken; Eugenio Semedo; Jose Delgado; Joseph Madelros; Manuel Silva; John Britto; Henry Andrews and Ambrose Montero.

The body of the cook, W. E. Sargent, was buried at sea.

in his "little navy" battles, only to go down to defeat in the senate.

While approving the American overture, senatorial leaders held the belief that foreign governments are not ready yet for further disarmament but that publicity on the American offer may force a successful conference in the near future due to pressure upon the governments by world opinion.

The irreconcilable camp particularly advocated a naval parity between the United States and Great Britain. Senator Moses (R) of New Hampshire, who succeeded Senator James A. Reed (D) of Missouri, as leader of the bloc, had this cryptic statement: "I'm for parity."

From the other camp came similar pronouncements. Senator Caraway (D) of Arkansas, an old League of Nations advocate, said: "I'm sympathetic with the Gibson proposal."

Parents And Teachers Organize At Shenango

One Hundred Parents Attend Organization Meeting At Shenango High Today

PARENTS VISIT THROUGHOUT DAY

Approximately 100 parents are visiting regular classes today at the Shenango township consolidated school at East New Castle and the same number attended the organization meeting this morning at 11 o'clock of a parent-teachers association for the school.

The program began this morning at 9 o'clock when the school buses were sent out over their routes to convey the parents to the school building.

Mrs. D. N. Bulford, vice president of the Congress of Parent-Teachers Association in the state, was present and in charge of the formation meeting for the new association of the teachers of the school and parents of the community.

A nominating committee was named and it includes Mrs. George Lawrence, Mrs. Isaac Lytle, Mrs. E. O. Alexander, Mrs. John Nigle, Mrs. J. H. Bower and Miss Alberta Bremer.

Meet May 10.
At this time a committee was also nominated to draft a constitution and by-laws for the new association of parents and teachers. Members of this committee are G. W. Johnson, Mrs. H. A. Anderson, Mrs. C. O. Brown, Mrs. I. E. George and Miss Katherine Alcorn.

The first meeting will occur on the evening of May 10 in the auditorium of the school and at this time the committees will make their reports and the election of officers for the association will take place.

No special display were arranged for the day's affair. Regular classes took place according to the daily schedules. Each parent was given an opportunity of visiting the class room and observing the work which is being done regularly by their children and the student body as a whole.

This afternoon Clara B. Beck, supervising principal, assisted by his teaching staff, are acting as hosts to the 100 parents who are attending the meeting.

Thus far in the history of the large consolidated school at East New Castle there has been no such organization between the parents and teachers. The organization of the one this morning and the enthusiasm prevalent in addition to the large attendance indicated a marked interest in the school work of the community and it is expected that the group will accomplish much in an educational way.

TRAFFIC LIGHTS: Some communities are making fundamental mistakes in installing street traffic lights, signals and markings by placing traffic control devices without adequate study of conditions they are calculated to improve, or the effect that an installation at one intersection will have upon other intersections, and by employing traffic control devices at places and times not justified by conditions. If these tendencies continue the inevitable result will be public recognition of the errors and consequent ignoring of or opposition to traffic signs, signals and markings.

TRAFFIC LIGHTS
Some communities are making fundamental mistakes in installing street traffic lights, signals and markings by placing traffic control devices without adequate study of conditions they are calculated to improve, or the effect that an installation at one intersection will have upon other intersections, and by employing traffic control devices at places and times not justified by conditions. If these tendencies continue the inevitable result will be public recognition of the errors and consequent ignoring of or opposition to traffic signs, signals and markings.

This possibility should be self-evident. Knowledge that warnings may be made worse than useless is as old as the story of the shepherd who cried "wolf" just to see the villagers run, and whose appeals for help were ignored when his flock was attacked. Municipal authorities, however, are apt to forget this fact. Traffic light after traffic light is set up, and once one is established there is little likelihood that it will ever be removed.

Every traffic sign and signal should be so thoughtfully designed and so carefully placed as to convey its message quickly and clearly at the exact time and place it is needed. If a boulevard stop sign will serve the purpose best, a stop and go signal, which holds traffic unnecessarily long, should not be used.

DRESSING TO PLEASE
A few days ago much space was given in the news to the claim that styles and cuts in feminine raiment are largely controlled by men. Now it appears that, to a large extent, women select and buy men's attire for store trade. That makes it about fifty-fifty—and why not an admirable arrangement?

As a rule the object of fastidious feminine dressers is at least to pass muster with the male element at reviewing stations, and with the masculine peacocks is the feminine observer whose praise is sought. The matter standing thus, it is a logical arrangement for women to wear clothes that men have designed and for men to deck themselves in raiment that women have selected.

REMORSE ALWAYS COMES TOO LATE
THE hardest thing in the world for a man to face is the disillusionment and heart-ache of those who have loved and trusted him. When H. Colin Campbell, New Jersey engineer, was arrested for the notorious "torch murder," he kept his composure and related his story coolly and with self-possession. He knew he had committed a crime he said, and he would pay the penalty without whimpering.

But when his latest wife visited the jail to see him, and stood outside the barred door with tears in her eyes, protesting that her love and confidence were still undiminished, the self-confessed slayer broke down completely. He could face a possible death sentence with equanimity; he could not face his wife.

Unfortunately, men usually remember such things too late. If Campbell had thought of it sooner, the "torch murder" might never have taken place.

IMAGINATION
IMAGINATION is the younger brother of genius. Children and poets are its custodians. It is the justification of all who refuse to acknowledge the dull routine of existence. To the imaginer the is always crowded with romance and mystery. Such a one approaches with eager pace the corner of the unexpected. His motto is, "You can never tell."

While imagination belongs primarily to children and poets, there is no reason why all kinds of people may not be child-like at heart and poets by avocation.

Even those who smile gently or laugh openly at the whims and fancies of the imaginative people must, in the secret of their hearts, occasionally pause to envy such happy individuals.

Drab indeed is the life of one whose type was sketched by Wordsworth in the lines:

A primrose by the river's brim,
A yellow primrose was to him,
And it was nothing more.

For, all too soon the imagination of the child fades into the common light of day. Life is austere and exacting. Yet it can be made to yield never-ending charm to one who can hear "tongues in trees" and find "books in the running brooks."

For those who have lost their child-like imagination in the face of life's realities, it may still be purchased. Books and music have the power to bring it back. The drama and the cinema speak its eternal message. It may even be had without money and without price from some blue-eyed youngster in whose immaturity there is rare wisdom.

Don't scorn at imagination in others. Don't be ashamed of it in yourself. In this prosy world it quenches an eternal thirst.

The breaks always go against the drone.
The pistol, however, isn't a curse. It is a symptom.
God is one good way to kill time, but you can whittle without buying a uniform.
The reason some people are "invalids" is because they have unlimited time to spare.
To think own self be true and a lot of folk will call you a narrow-minded lightward.
There's nothing new under the sun unless you count the definition of the word etteminate.

Congressman Britten, chairman of the House Naval Committee, calls Mr. Gibson's talk at Geneva about arms reduction "another naval victory for British diplomacy" and "a complete surrender by the United States."

Fortunately there are Americans in Congress. They may have something to say about that complete surrender before it is made official.

The waiting chauffeur will be freed from boredom and the family automobile trip made even more cheerful than usual.

Capt. Rickenbacker sends news of a substantial corporation, formed to install the "travelons," a full-fledged radio, in every automobile.

You many travel from the Atlantic to the Pacific, hearing the President's speeches on the way, with baseball news and stock-ticker quotations in between.

Whatever man can suggest, he can do.

Twenty years ago, on the New York Stock Exchange, somebody bought 65,000 shares of United States Steel stock in one lump. Perhaps it was Frank Munsey. He knew enough to buy Steel when it was cheap.

That record was broken yesterday when somebody bought 100,000 shares of Simms Petroleum. Others bought 236,000 shares more. The Street says "somebody must know something."

Times are bad in the oil business, but not apparently for everybody.

Standard Oil of New York last year earned $39,552,277, and has $12,064,938 left after paying dividends, an income three times as great as in the preceding year.

Henry Ford says Standard Oil is the best managed business in the world.

The American Telephone and Telegraph Company is another business successfully managed. Climbing steadily upward, its total stock exchange value is above three thousand millions of dollars, double the value of Standard Oil of New York and United States Steel, but excelled by the market value of General Motors.

There are plums in THESE days.

Elmer Smith, aged 17, rose into the air Tuesday at 11:40 a. m., determined to stay, alone, until 2 or 3 o'clock in the afternoon, Wednesday, to beat the "woman's all-alone up-in-the-air record."

It is a fine ambition, but some one should have told the young woman when she came down, not to do it again. To concentrate on a flying machine for 24 hours means lasting injury to the nervous system.

This emphasizes the fact that it is well for Uncle Sam to keep out of Europe's affairs and attend to his own business. He has plenty of it.

Rules, just issued, permit young ladies of Wellesley to smoke in Alumnae Hall, society houses, in boats on Lake Waban, private homes or residences, in fact almost everywhere. The next rules generally doubtless will indicate the proper place for young ladies to chew tobacco.

Dr. Daniel Smith Lamb, curator of the American Medical Museum, performed 1,500 autopsies during his lifetime, including two on the bodies of President Garfield and Custer, his assassin.

Yesterday Dr. Lamb's man came in accordance with his will his body was dissected. He hoped he might be useful at the last. He was 80 years old.

Germany permits all survivors of the Emden to add "Emden" to the rest of their name. Thus Friedrich von Emden is Friedrich Gerber-Emden. The Emden destroyed 18 steamers and one cruiser before an Australian cruiser ended its career.

On the same basis Col. Lindbergh would call himself Col. Lindbergh-Atlantic Ocean.

Every day in New York's public schools 22,000 children are absent because of illness. Ninety-eight inspectors are supposed to look after 1,300,000 pupils. There is one nurse to 5,000 children.

Some day prosperous civilization will realize that there is actual cash value in intelligent children and will find it worth while to take care of them.

New York City, richest on earth, is obliged to pay 5 1/2 per cent on $52,000,000 borrowed to build new subways.

That rate, highest paid by the city in many years, is part of our "teasing usury debranch" promoted by the Federal Reserve Board, supposed to stabilize credit.

If New York City must pay 5 1/2 per cent, no wonder the Wall Street speculator has to pay 20 per cent.

In a small town in Kentucky lived an old negro famed for his memory. A visitor decided to test him.

Ten years later the man returned to the town and, meeting Sambo again, asked, "How?"

"Fried, Ah guess," retorted the negro.—London Tid-Bits.

Michigan is going to revive the whipping post for the punishment of persistent criminals. According to the terms of the bill, the strap is to be "well laid on the bare back of hardened criminals" at periods during their imprisonment. Looks like Michigan is getting tired of law violation.

A colored man went to his pastor and handed him a letter to the Lord, which ran: "Please send this poor darkey $50 right away. The pastor, a kind-hearted man, called together several of his friends and said: "This poor fellow has so much faith in the Lord that he expects Him to send the $50 right away. We shouldn't let him be disappointed. Let's make a collection for him." That was done and $42 was contributed, which sum was sent to the inebriated petitioner.

Next day the colored man handed the pastor another letter. This one ran: "Dear Lord. Do next time You send this darkey money, don't send it through no parson—send it to me direct."

Red Taint In Textile Strike

Symposium of Editorial Views By Newspapermen on Strike in Textile Industry. Subjects as Edited by Consolidated Press Association.

Thoughts Result And Not Cause

Rival Labor Organizations Arouse Interest, Although Question Of Wages And Hours Receive Much Attention

Although the red taint of communism is discerned by some observers in the action of the striking textile workers of the South, most commentators who detect it consider it a result rather than a cause of the present situation. There is an emphasis on the worker as well as protection of the industry.

Conditions at certain points inspire the advice from the CHARLOTTE OBSERVER that it behooves the authorities to adopt a rigid policy of taking no chances whatever. In many of the areas where the communist-inspired strikes are under way, and that paper states further, "Many people understand the sterling character of southern labor, and they experience difficulty in understanding the pull that has been successfully exercised in some cases in divorcing this labor from its long-established tradition of stability and reliability."

Controlled interests of North Carolina cotton mills, some of which have taken occasion recently to draw comparisons between the National Textile Workers' Union, a radical labor outfit, and the United Textile Workers of America, the conservative organization of the American Federation of Labor, will be put to the test in the opinion of the RALEIGH NEWS AND OBSERVER, which adds: "One result of the hysteria that has accompanied the Gaston strike will be the effort of a sane, conservative labor element to organize the textile workers of the South."

Too long the South has been held up to divided-labor New England cotton mill stockholders as a land of every laborer willing to work 16 hours, under conditions that would not be permitted legally in New England. Only a very poor and very hard-scrabble brand of southern patriotism can rejoice over the accession of industries from the North under such terms.

The cotton mill owners of the South, according to the CHATTAHOOCHEE NEWS, are learning more clearly now that there is more than one kind of union, more than one kind of leadership, more than one direction in which the organization of employees can go. That paper also holds that "the future of the cotton mill operative of the South depends quite as much on the owners and managers of cotton mills as on the operatives themselves. Time is on the side of the employees."

In the conflict between the American Federation and its radical rival, the BROOKLYN DAILY EAGLE points out that "the southern mill workers have little sympathy for sweeping radical policies but neither do they have any special reason to look with sympathy on affiliation with organizations sprung among the conservative northern cotton mills."

The southern mill owners do not realize this as well as anybody and they may take it into account in dealing with their workers. The sooner they contrive to satisfy their wage earners, the less chance they run of seeing their mills unionized under the Federation auspices.

A survey of the situation, "made by men inspired with the sole purpose to serve the ends of justice and of truth, to protect the rights of both capital and labor" is advocated by the NASHVILLE BANNER, which says of the situation, "The entire South has a deep concern in the solution, for upon it depends whether this section is to be spared the disorders and damage, economic and social, from which New England has long suffered."

The CHATTAHOOCHEE NEWS also has a searching investigation by state authorities. The COLUMBIA RECORD welcomes a legislative labor inquiry in South Carolina, with the statement: "We can but believe that the committee is impressed by the frightful consequences to the South and to South Carolina in particular, that will follow from anything but an orderly correction of conditions now unsatisfactory."

"The day of slave-driving in the cotton mills," as viewed by the ROANOKE TIMES, is at an end. Unless the owners and operators recognize this voluntarily, they will be made to recognize it by other means. In either case the eventual result will be the same. The NEW YORK EVENING POST recognizes that "the history of labor disputes repeats itself in the South," while the APPLETON POST-CRESCENT expresses regret that "capital and labor, at a time when they have almost quit fighting in the North should begin to fight in the South."

"Southern industry," remarks the ANNISTON STAR, should seek to avoid mistakes that have been made in other sections. If the satisfactory conditions of the past are to continue, at the same time it is well to keep in mind that the textile industry of the country has been undergoing a period of marked depression and that uneconomic wage demands in this section at this time might have the same effect that such demands had on the industry in New England."

The ASHEVILLE TIMES believes that "there are unmistakable conditions existing which will continue to cause strife in the textile industry until conditions are changed."

"The give-and-take principle," suggests the CHARLESTON EVENING POST, "has advanced in all industries and ways of arriving at satisfactory working arrangements without strife have come into more and more favor as both sides have discovered how much more profitable to all is amicable compromise than the attitude of the bitter-enders. For the sake of the southern textile industry it is to be hoped that both sides will have leadership of the kind that will bring about industrial peace."

The CHATTAHOOCHEE TIMES avers that "the situation at Elizabethton is a costly and impressive object lesson on the consequences of refusal on the part of either labor or employers, or both, to be guided in their dealings with each other by reasonableness and considerations of fair play."

After making due allowance for possible exaggeration, there is still evidence of a deplorably low recompense for workers in the mills of the affected territory," declares the PHILADELPHIA EVENING BULLETIN, and testimony to the evils of low wages is given by the MORGANTOWN NEW DOMINION and the DULUTH HERALD. The MILWAUKEE JOURNAL states as to one investigation: "Here is the mother of the children working 55 hours a week for an average wage of $19.00. Here is a married woman of 18, 17 weeks of hours a week for $8. And a boy of 16 who works 72 hours for $12. Such things as these, and we have not even touched the story of the children of the South. If far-off owners, carefully shutting their eyes to the source of profits, have fought, and hired lobbyists to fight, all other forms of correction, at least decent people must be glad that the labor unions are at work in the South."

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

LOST ALIBIS.
The inventive genius of the husband who stays out of nights is often sorely taxed. But think of the tragedy when the wandering husband forgets his alibi.

It was midnight. In the smoking room of a club a young man sat huddled in a chair. A friend entered.

"Hello, Smith," he asked cheerfully. "Not going home yet?"

"No," muttered the despairing one. "I haven't."

"Matter?" At eight o'clock I telephoned to my wife and gave her a perfectly good excuse for not coming home. I said, 'My voice said to me to wait.'—The forgotten wife said: 'Terrible!'

Live for the minute, live for the hour, live for the day and live for the flower. Live for the baby, live for the lad. Take what life gives you today and be glad. What if this minute you're troubled and grieved. Something worth waiting for surely shall come.

Live for the laughter that rings in the hall. Live for the friends who will drop in to bid you good night. Live for the help which your strength can bestow. The friend you can be to some other you know. Live for the wrong you may some day set right. Live for the morning and live for the night.

Live out the burdens and live out the cares. Live for the harvest which summer prepares. Live for the task and its praise to be won. The joy of achievement when toiling is done. Live and rejoice that God made you a man. And gave you a share in His infinite plan.

Hoover's Ideas On Kelly Bill Capitol Puzzle

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

WASHINGTON, April 25.—The politicians of Capitol Hill are wondering whether now that he is in the White House, President Hoover has changed his mind about the desirability of having cabinet officers regularly attend sessions of the senate and house and submit to questioning as to their policies somewhat after the British system.

Mr. Hoover expressed cordial support of the idea some six years ago when he was secretary of commerce, and when the presidential bee, if any, was only faintly humming about his head.

The plan, which is regularly sponsored in congress by Rep. M. Clyde Kelly (R. of Pennsylvania), has a good many supporters. But they have never been numerous enough nor enthusiastic enough in their support to get it anywhere.

Some oppose it on the ground that it is a departure from the original conception of the "founding fathers" in maintaining a heavy line of demarcation between the three branches of the government, executive, legislative and judicial. Still others oppose it because they consider it would be "taping the British."

Could Debate

The Kelly bill not only would require the presence of the cabinet officers for interrogation, but it would also give them the right of participation in debate when the subject matter under discussion related to their respective departments.

That might lead to some interesting sessions on Capitol Hill.

Last session there were scarcely two consecutive days in which Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon did not come in for a "panning" from some of his numerous critics. The spectacle of the diminutive and shy Mellon trading verbal brickbats with Senator "Jim" Couzens of Michigan, or Senator McKellar of Tennessee, or Senator Norris of Nebraska, would be one calculated to prick the galleries.

Mr. Hoover hasn't said whether he still believes the innovation would be a good one since he has been in the White House.

Once in favor.

Rep. Kelly dug into his files some time ago, however, and produced a letter which he received from then Secretary Hoover back in 1922 endorsing his bill.

"Dear Congressman," wrote Mr. Hoover, "I am in receipt of H. R. 8345 and believe that this resolution proposed by you comprehends one of the most constructive steps that can be taken in furthering the development of our governmental machinery."

"The growth of population and the increasing complexity of social and economic life, the greatly increasing burdens of congress and the administration, make it almost imperative that we should have some close association between the executive and legislative branches in the solution of these matters."

"There are in my mind overwhelming arguments that can be introduced in favor of this change in our traditions. I do not believe that any fundamental criticism can be directed against it except by those who would deliberately exaggerate it as an attempt to establish a form of parliamentary government. Anyone who understands the basis of such European organization will at once recognize that the step you propose has no relation whatever to this form of government."

"The provision in section 2 could probably be worked out more for both sides by a rule that would establish the process of interrogation of cabinet officers through written interrogatories with notice. This would avoid unnecessary attendance through rigid provisions and would also secure, to congress, immediate and prompt information as to the executive and other matters."

April Meeting Occurs Friday

The April meeting of the parent and teachers of the Rose avenue school will be held in the gymnasium at the Rose avenue school on Friday with Senator "Jim" Couzens of Michigan, or Senator McKellar of Tennessee, or Senator Norris of Nebraska, would be one calculated to prick the galleries.

Passengers Drink Leviathan Beer

By BARRY FARIS
General News Manager, International
News Service

ON BOARD THE S. LEVIATHAN, April 25.—The preference of Americans at least insofar as the Leviathan passengers are representative Americans for beer over heavy liquors, and even wines, has been amply demonstrated on this voyage, the first west-bound journey of this vessel since 1923 beer, wines and liquors have been sold to passengers.

The beer supply on the ship has been completely exhausted, while orders for wines and liquors have been very light.

The first realization of the dent which had been made in the supply of lighter alcoholic beverages came last night when the dining steward announced that the beer supply had been exhausted, with the ship still more than 36 hours out of New York. "Maybe that is why there has been so little wine drinking. This crowd is one of beer drinkers," one dining steward remarked.

The smoking room is still getting a light play from passengers, but it was noticed that there was some increase in the number of orders of wine after the beer supply had been consumed.

Check Data For State Industries

Results Of Surveys Made During
1928 To Be Made Public

HARRISBURG, April 25.—The department of Internal Affairs today announced that the results of industrial surveys in the various counties of the State for 1928 would begin to appear in the next few weeks. An effort is being made to push the work in the Bureau of Statistics of the Department of Internal Affairs so that tabulations for the entire State may be completed earlier this year than last.

The first county to be completed in detail will be Dauphin and survey results in York, Franklin, Adams, Lebanon and Lancaster will be announced soon after Dauphin.

There are approximately 26,000 industrial plants in Pennsylvania and the Department of Internal Affairs annually receives reports from each industry. Tabulations show the industrial standing of each of the counties together with details on industrial activity. Studies of industry during 1928 in approximately 90 cities of the Commonwealth will also be made by the department during the year.

Wild Cats Must Be "Home Grown" To Get Bounties

HARRISBURG, April 25.—The difference between three wild cats killed in Pennsylvania and three killed in Louisiana is $55 owing for the latter at least so far as the bounty division of the Board of Game Commissioners is concerned.

Despite the similarity in size and color, attaches of the board detect easily the difference between a Pennsylvania cat and one from the cane brakes of a Southern state. Three cats offered recently from Clinton county aroused suspicion. An investigation disclosed they had been killed in Louisiana.

Instead of collecting $45 in bounties, the man who offered the cats paid $100 in fines.

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

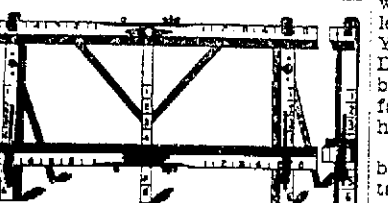

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 20 years and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, just a healing, soothing, vegetable laxative mixed with olive oil.

No gripping is the "key-note" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth," bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—migraine—torpid liver—constipation, you'll find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets at bedtime.

Thousands take them every night to keep light. Try them, 10c, 50c, 60c.

THE BROTHER WHO STAYED AT HOME

One of Gobbler's wives gave a scornful cluck at her husband's words. "Of course, that wicked traitor was leading you to market, where you would have lost your foolish head. Anyone but your silly self would have guessed that at once, husband. And it would have served you right, too, for running away from home. Now, if you had stayed in the barnyard and minded your own business, you would be fine and plump instead of lean and scrawny as you are now. You should have seen your brother. During your absence he grew much better looking than you ever were; so fat you would never have known him!"

Here Mrs. Gobbler caught her breath, gave a little gasp and stopped talking. The other Turkeys looked at her curiously.

"Now you mention him, wife, I remember I haven't seen brother since I came back. Where is he, anyhow? I should think if he heard my voice he would come running from the farthest part of the barnyard," Gobbler looked curiously about.

Mrs. Gobbler shook her head and said mournfully: "Your brother will never again come running to greet you or any one else."

"Why not? Where is he?" demanded Gobbler, glancing from one of his family to the other and shaking his wattle fiercely. "Hurry up and tell me before I lose my temper."

"YOUR BROTHER WAS CARRIED OFF AGAINST HIS WILL."

at your being so slow with your story!"

"We don't quite know what has happened to your brother," replied Mrs. Gobbler, backing away from her impatient husband. "All we are sure of is that in the morning he was strutting around in the barnyard as hale and hearty as any well fed Turkey can be and when night came he had gone! Where? That is for you to guess. Only one thing we can say, and that is that he didn't run away. He was carried off!"

No Demand For Red Underwear

GLOUCESTER, R. I., April 25.—Glocester has passed through another winter without making any serious inroads into its "red flannel" underwear fund.

Making his will in 1930, Samuel Windsor Hunt injected the following clause:

"To the town of Gloucester, R. I., a municipal corporation, I bequeath the sum of $500 in trust to be safely and properly invested and the income applied from time to time to procure underwear for the use of such people of said town as are from time to time supported by the town."

Modern villagers apparently would rather shiver than itch, for in recent years applications for this free protection against the elements have been few. Only $22.27 has been drawn from the fund in the past 20 years and the bequest has grown to almost double its original size.

Will Check Work Done To Eradicate Corn Borer Pest

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, April 25.—A check on work done to eradicate the corn borer in Crawford, Erie and Mercer counties will begin next Wednesday the bureau of plant industry of the department of agriculture announced today.

Every farm in the three counties will be visited during the month and a close inspection made of each. In cases where the bureau's requirements have not been met the owners will be given a few days to comply. Continued failure will result in the work being done by state representatives and the cost assessed against the property owner.

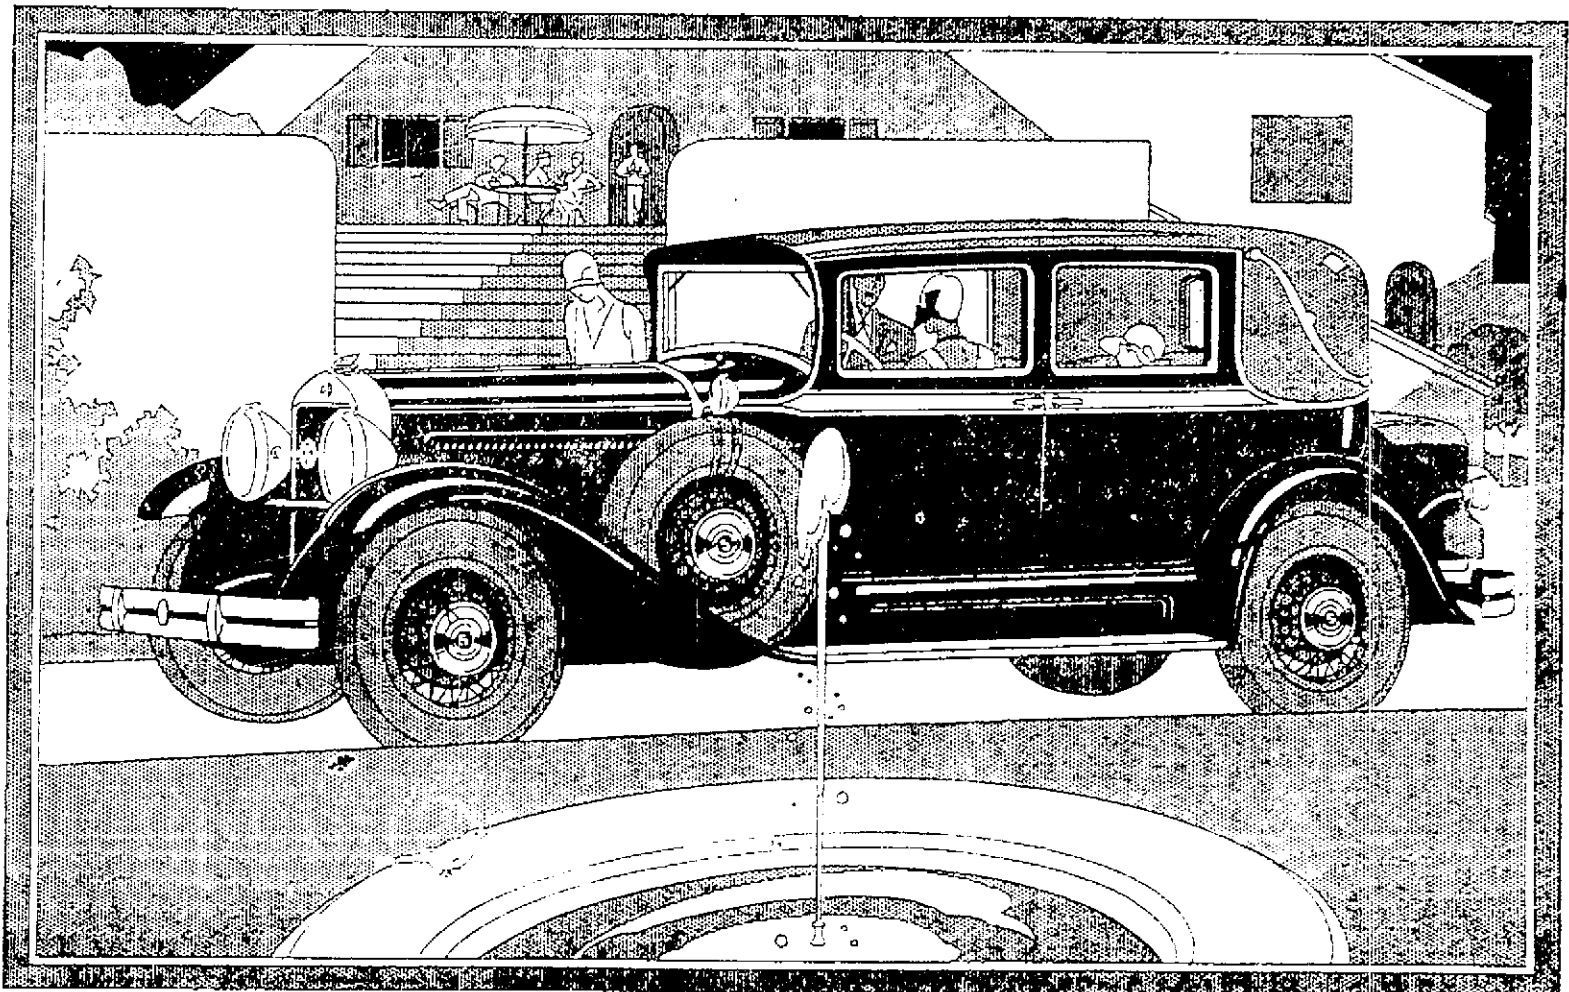

The regulations require plowing under stubble and burning of stocks and cobs.

R. H. Bell director of the bureau said that as a result of the work last year in the infested area a reduction of 92 per cent in the number of borers was effected. It is hoped by continued activity to further reduce the spread of the pests.

To obtain desired results Bell asserted it is necessary to be sure that every field in the area be treated.

Booster Club To Make Drive For More Members

Campaign Will Be Started At Once—New Industry For City Projected

FINE ADDRESS IS GIVEN BY MARTIN

Although last night's attendance at the Booster Club was somewhat reduced by conflicting attractions, a good crowd was in attendance and a fine meeting was held.

Tom Cunningham, vice president in charge of the membership reported that the membership drive which will be started along a definitely planned line next week. He advocated a change in the By-laws making the initiation fee to the club $1 and dues for the year of $2. This recommendation was favorably acted upon by the club.

A communication was read by Secretary Paul Griffiths from R. L. Dana of Parkersburg, W. Va., stating that an organization similar to the New Castle Booster Club was planned in that city and asked for information on the subject, telling how the New Castle club was organized.

To Aid Hospital.

Harry M. Long, chairman of the Hospital committee reported that the committee had gone over the plans for aiding in equipping the new Jameson Memorial hospital and that Mrs. David Jameson had told him that the only furnishings now needed were for two sun parlors and for several of the wards.

The cost of equipping the sun parlors was placed at approximately $250 and the club voted to undertake the task of furnishing the two rooms.

A letter was received from the Lawrence Laundry Co. relative to the hotel situation in New Castle which is present being handled by an outside firm and plans of the local plant.

W. M. Nunn, chairman of the board, stated that he had been extremely busy during the past week visiting the various service clubs of the city and that he had been enthusiastically received by all.

He stated that a survey of the bread industry in New Castle revealed the fact that there are 12,000 loaves in New Castle and the immediate vicinity which use 34,000 loaves of bread daily. This is supplied by 10 local bakeries representing an investment of $2,150,000. The weekly payroll amounted to $5,000 and employed 103 people.

At present he stated $1,100 a day was being taken out of New Castle by out-of-town baking concerns.

Plant Seeks Site.

G. E. Martin of the Martin Battery Service Co. reported to the club that he had been informed from a very reliable source that the Westinghouse Union Battery Co. was seeking a site to locate their factory and wanted to make an immediate change. The plant wants a building already completed with at least 60,000 feet of floor space. He stated that this industry employs 350 men and turns out about 6,000 batteries a month. The matter was referred to the industrial committee for action.

John R. Dunne stated that the aerial poundage had not been increased a single pound during the past few weeks in spite of the filers provided by the Booster club which he stated were not being used. He stated that if the Booster club did not put across a single other thing it would be worthwhile putting over this proposition.

He stated that the matter had been placed before the U. S. postal au-

Soviet Proposal Limiting Naval Air Forces Fails

Hugh Gibson, American Delegate To Disarmament Commission Stops Procedure

PLAN REJECTED BY UNANIMOUS VOTE

(International News Service) GENEVA, April 25.—Following a sharp rebuke administered to Maxim Litvinoff, the Russian delegate, by Hugh Gibson, of the United States, the League of Nations preparatory disarmament commission today rejected Soviet Russia's proposals for reduction of military and naval air forces.

Soviet Russia's plan for cutting down the fleets of fighting planes was part of the general program for disarmament in separate categories. Under the Russian scheme disarmament would be carried out separately in various geographical zones, the whole world being divided up in "disarmament areas."

Maxim Litvinoff, acting commissar for foreign affairs in the Moscow government, had spoken for an hour in favor of the Soviet's plan for air-plane limitation, when he was suddenly interrupted by the American observer.

Gibson Takes Floor

In obvious anger, Mr. Gibson exclaimed: "You are making us lose time. We are not here to instruct a future conference. You are out of order, I demand an immediate vote."

The vote was then taken resulting in defeat of the Russian plan by a unanimous ballot.

An interesting feature of the situation was that neither M. Litvinoff nor Mr. Gibson represents a member of the league. Neither Soviet Russia nor the United States ever joined up although the governments of both are represented in the sessions of the preparatory disarmament commission which is meeting under the auspices of the league.

RE-MARRIAGE OF DIVORCED COUPLES IS INCREASING

LONDON, April 25.—Re-marriage after divorce is becoming increasingly popular in England. During 1928, an investigation of marriage lists reveals, no fewer than 70 couples in London were re-united in bonds of matrimony after some marital spat caused a rift in the household.

In most cases, the re-marriages take place in registry offices, and very rarely are there any persons but the necessary legal witnesses present. On one or two occasions divorced couples have staged a gala wedding in honor of the re-union, but usually the marriages are extremely quiet affairs.

Blames "The Devil"

FARRELL, Pa., April 25.—Declaring that "The Devil was in me," William Dougherty, 18, West Middlesex, Negro, admitted tampering with the tracks of the Pennsylvania railroad near West Middlesex. The fact that a handcar passed over the "line before a train prevented a serious wreck, according to Railroad Officer William Jenkins, who arrested the youth. Arraigned before Justice Joseph Frank here, Dougherty pleaded guilty to a charge of malicious mischief and was held for court without bail. Railroad officers said the youth spiked a rail out of position.

Turkey Is Stirred By "Oriental" Ball

International News Service
CONSTANTINOPLE, April 25.—The police have ordered an investigation into the staging of an "Oriental ball" for the amusement of American tourists arriving here in the belief that it has held the Turkish nation up to ridicule.

Water pipes were distributed to the guests and Eastern music was played, and the tourists were expected to sprawl on cushions like the Turks of old. Oriental dances were performed by women artists posing as Turks.

The organizer of the ball, who is accused of insulting the Turkish nation and caricaturing Turkish life, claims that the tourists demanded these "Oriental antics" in order to get a glimpse of Eastern atmosphere and out-dated customs.

CITIES IN CONNECTICUT DO AWAY WITH TROLLEYS

International News Service
MIDDLETOWN, Conn., April 25.—Middletown will soon join the rapidly growing list of Connecticut cities that have no trolley cars. The Connecticut company has asked permission from the public utilities commission to do away with all street cars except those of the interurban line connecting with Hartford and suburban buses. Already buses are used on other interurban lines and some of the local lines.

Vienna Will Have Cancer Institute

(International News Service)
VIENNA, April 25.—A new cancer research institute of world importance, founded by the American millionaire, S. Cunningham Childs, will be opened next autumn in Vienna.

The $100,000 donation of Mr. Childs, which he deposited a few months ago with a Vienna bank after he had been successfully treated by a Vienna physician against a painful internal disease, creates a new world center of cancer research and therapeutics. The initiative of the American philanthropist has opened the hearts and the pocketbooks of other plutocrats, and the director of the donation, Dr. Adolf Edelmann, expects now that within a few months he will have about $400,000 at his disposal.

Dr. Edelmann is the physician who cured Mr. Childs. He is a Vienna specialist for internal diseases and his research works in the field of cancer and blood diseases aroused international interest.

The new institute will be connected with a hospital with a hundred or more beds. Dr. Edelmann will work with a staff of about 40 scientists. The institute is to be named after its founder: "Cunningham Childs Hospital for Research of Internal Diseases and Cancer."

COEDS BETTER SOB WRITERS THAN MALES

BOSTON, April 25.—The co-ed journalists at Boston University lived up to the traditions of a "sob sister" and were able to write a better human interest story than their male co-students. was the decision of faculty members at the Back Bay college. All members of one class were ordered to write the most heart-rendering sob story obtainable, and the final result showed that the men were hopelessly outclassed.

It is most sanitary!

GENERAL ELECTRIC Refrigerator

Miss Alice Bradley, Principal of Miss Farmer's School of Cookery in Boston, has written the following...

"I can truthfully say that in my experience I have never come across a refrigerator which is as sanitary as the General Electric. I suppose the fact that all the machinery is in one hermetically sealed casing accounts for that. There is no oil anywhere to catch dust, no crevices where it can linger, no fan to suck it into the mechanism.

"What people do not seem to realize is that there is a constant current of warm air, caused by the compression of the refrigerant inside the casing, rising from this top unit. This warm air current is powerful enough to keep a small pin-wheel revolving and, like the heat from a radiator, it drives the dust away from the unit and prevents it from settling."

You should see these sanitary, quiet, roomy refrigerators. Study them carefully yourself. Come in today. Or send for a booklet.

Time payments can be arranged, if desired.

Haul Loot From Store In Truck

AMBRIDGE, Pa., April 25.—Robbery of $3,000 worth of merchandise was reported today by police from the store of Charles B. Nosoff, 539 Merchant St. Over 100 men's suits were among the loot. Truck tracks at the rear of the store provided the only clue. Gimlet holes were bored around a lock in the rear door and the lock was sawed off.

A telephone operator reported the telephone had been removed from the hook about 5 o'clock this morning which indicated the time of robbery.

BRIDGE PLAYING RATED GOOD MARRIAGE TEST

ATLANTA, April 25.—People play bridge as they are constitutionally born. They are "themselves" then. A man or a woman may conceal meanness of disposition in the ordinary social contacts of life but it is sure to come out at the bridge table.

Because she so firm believes in the truth of the above Mrs. Annis Adair Foster local bridge authority suggests that all couples intending to marry should first try out being bridge partners. It's a better test than companionate marriage she avers.

BATTLE LINES DRAWN AT PITT

Undergraduates And Administration At Odds Over Liberal Club Meeting

PITTSBURGH, April 25.—Battle lines between undergraduate members of the University of Pittsburgh's Liberal club and the university administration were drawn today, following a private meeting of the club last night and the planning for another tomorrow, despite the ban placed on the organization by university officials.

Whether the club would attempt to defy the university by meeting on the campus was unknown. Dean of Men H. H. Armbruster, in a letter to William Albertson, head of the club, forbade the members to function "as an activity of the University of Pittsburgh."

Last night's meeting was held privately. By a vote of 25 to 1 the club adopted a statement declaring that the ban placed upon it by the university involved "more than the mere existence of an undergraduate club."

"We have based our past program and shall base our future conduct on the following statement of policy," the statement declared.

"We consider a university campus the fittest of all places for a free discussion of any idea, theories or practices that are current anywhere in the world."

Feeling ran high on the campus today and some students were advocating a general walk-out in the event that any member of the Liberal club is expelled.

University authorities were now committing concerning the club and declined to discuss their action in barring it from the campus.

Since the world war, British women have crowded into clerical, stenographic and secretarial work. In the professional and the older lines of business their progress, as a group, has been only moderate.

Her Artificial Leg To Popular; He Tries To Get It Back, Is Jailed

NEW YORK, April 25.—As a token of his affection and so that there might be more of her worship Sylvester Walker a negro gave to his girl Rose Rody an artificial leg to replace her left one which was amputated about a year ago.

The new limb was of excellent construction and tinted to match her complexion. It cost Sylvester $180 and after caused him the torment of jealousy as the months passed by. Now it is to blame for his being in jail overnight and the planning for an assault with attempted felonious assault and violation of the Sullivan law.

Sylvester tried to get his leg back Saturday night and that was where he put his foot in it. He had found, as Rose had learned even before him his gift could draw the admiration of men other than himself.

It had seemed to Sylvester a really personal gift and truly expensive as he is not a rich man and $180 from his savings was almost as great a blow as cutting his own leg off.

The climax came Saturday night in the house where both of them live. He waited until 10 o'clock for her to come home. When she arrived with two other negro women he stormed at her, demanded her leg and threatened her with a pistol. The women charged. A pistol was found on a window ledge when the police arrested Sylvester. Rose still has the leg.

Offer History Of Lost Battalion

Buck Private McCollum's Book Being Distributed By Gaston Post Of Legion

What Lieut. Col. C. W. Whittlesey, commander of the famous Lost Battalion, said to the German command, when requested to surrender, while he and his men were trapped in the Argonne Forest, was one of the popular myths which filtered back to the United States during the World War.

What really happened on this momentous occasion is clearly related in "Buck Private," L. C. McCollum's "History and Rhymes of the Lost Battalion," which is now being offered to New Castle residents by the Perry S. Gaston Post of the American Legion.

This book contains a double page reproduction of the U. S. official photographs of the Lost Battalion and its officers.

Historians will never be able to relate the experiences of the famous outfit in as interesting a manner as "Buck Private" McCollum has done. Humor and pathos are mingled with narrative official reports.

One of the most gripping stories in the book is that of Pvt. Lowell R. Hollingshead who tells in his own words how he was captured when he crawled into "No Man's Land," with seven buddies in an attempt to recover some food dropped by planes for members of the lost outfit, but which missed its mark. He tells of his experience in the German lines and of being sent back by the German commander with a note demanding the surrender of the famous outfit.

May Day Pageant Planned At School

250 Grove City College Students To Appear In Annual Production

GROVE CITY, Pa., April 25.—"Comus" is the title of the pageant written by Miss Roberta Melcher, head of the department of physics of Grove City college in which 250 men and women of the school will appear on the date of May 25th as the May Day program.

Dancing and pantomime will feature this event says Miss Melcher who has provided opportunity in the script for the presentation of a number of interesting solo and folk dances.

The costuming of this number of people will be taken care of by good seamstresses. A corps of girls will start work at once.

The music will be played by the college orchestra under the direction of Dr. Herman Poehlmann, head of the department.

The usual processional and recessional to and from the campus will feature the program.

TO MAKE CHEESE TESTS
The United States department of agriculture, through the bureau of dairy industry, will conduct experiments in the manufacture of cheese at the Grove City creamery this summer. Funds are available, having been provided for in the appropriation for the bureau by the recent congress.

It is understood that the manufacture of Roquefort cheese is one feature. Swiss cheese will also be manufactured. The amount of cheese to be made will depend on the amount of milk. The local creamery is in hopes there may be sufficient increase in milk to meet their requirements.

HOLD OPEN MEETING
The Webster Literary club of Grove City college held an open meeting, last evening in the Carnegie auditorium. The program featured the one act play "Hero Worship" which is to be given in the State contest. Paul Gregory, the college magician entertained with several stunts and the Leslie chorus, composed of college students sang several selections. Readings and talks were other features.

KINGS DAUGHTERS MEET
The members of the Kings Daughters of the United Presbyterian church met last evening in the church for their regular meeting. The devotional period of the meeting was in charge of Miss Ivy McClelland.

The program leader was Mrs. Wright Vincent. The mission study was "Friends of America" chapter 4, "Education For Women" was the subject that was taken up by Mrs. Ivan Gregg with slide lights by Mrs. J. H. McMillan. Roll call—teachers of the Bible.

CHAPTER TO MEET
The General Hugh chapter of the D. A. R. will hold the April meeting on Friday, April 26 at the home of Mrs. S. S. Smith of Mercer. The program for this meeting will be in charge of the Mercer members.

MILLER FUNERAL
Funeral services for W. C. Miller, who died Sunday morning at his home on the Sandy Lake road will be held today from the home at 10 o'clock. The service will be in charge of Dr. C. H. Williamson, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of this place.

Roaming Round With Richards

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle

"Over the Hills To the Poorhouse" was considered something of a play, back in the gay nineties. The play will be revived this summer with an all star cast of golfers who use the new municipal course. Located on the old poor farm the course sits between the old house and the new place up on the hill.

After losing a couple of dozen 75 cents some of the club swingers won't see anything so funny in the fact that the course is located on poor farm property. They may think it's a sign.

Where once the golden bantam corn waved its tasseled head, you will see a lot of tassels on golf fox this summer, and where once the kind-faced cow chewed her cud in pastoral peace, the air will soon be blue with the language of a dub who missed an eight inch putt.

If you go out there, don't use the old Princeton road that takes off from East New Castle. Go on to the Harmony stop "Wilkinson" and drive in on the ash road. The old road may decide to hold you there till fall. Nearly got my crock yesterday.

There will be a set of ground rules made out for the new club in a short time. One of them will be that a ball is never lost until it stops rolling.

Had a rather pedagogic time last night. Attended the banquet and party of the New Castle chapter of the P. S. E. A. (hope all the initials are in.) which means briefly that the New Castle teachers threw a party. Square root and rules of English went by the board for a few hours, and sheer nonsense took their places.

There was music and speeches, and a lot to eat, and a general air of levity that seemed far afield from the class room. The foreman of the crew, or rather the superintendent of the system, Dr. Green made a few remarks in which he averred—just like that—that New Castle school teachers were the best looking group of teachers in the state. Further, he called for public verification through this column today. Here it is.

School plays seem to have a heavy run this season. Hardly a week but what boasts of its dramatic production and I'm thinking seriously of starting a "Play of the Week" paragraph in this daily effusion. This week's would be "Which Team Won The Game" which will be produced by the Franklin students on Friday evening. If you care for an evening's entertainment, take it in.

Just in passing you might be interested in knowing that New Castle is in the position of a pioneer in the matter of continuing contracts for teachers. The legislature passed the Continuing Contract bill at the recent session, but this continuing contract is in use here already. It does not bind the board or the teacher to anything more than the usual contract, but it does give the teacher some peace of mind and saves the board some work.

Regulations have been issued by the Lord Chamberlain of England that ladies must not apply for permission to attend court if they have already appeared within three years. For several years ladies have been permitted to attend one of the functions annually, but the courts have become so crowded that this favor has been withdrawn.

RELIEF IT GAVE WAS WONDERFUL FARMER CLAIMS

Relates How Ten Herbs Ended Stomach, Liver and Bowel Disorders

"Ten Herbs was worth its weight in gold to me—in fact, I did not think that gold could buy the wonderment relief your medicine gave me," was the recent statement of Mr. Edgar Lusk, Route 1, Eighty-Four, Pa., (near Pittsburgh), to the Ten Herbs Man, who is at Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc., 30 East Washington street, this city, where he is daily demonstrating this new herbal medicine.

MR. EDGAR LUSK

"For a number of years I had been troubled with gastritis," continued Mr. Lusk, who is a farmer. "Even the lightest food would cause gas to form in my stomach. I would bloat terribly and be in agony. Gas would work up around my heart, causing it to flutter until I became very weak. I was always constipated, and my liver was very sluggish. Dizzy spells and headaches troubled me. I was bilious and my tongue was always coated. There was a bad taste in my mouth in the morning. My nerves were in such a state that the least thing would wake me at night. My blood circulation was poor. I would arise in the morning as tired as when I went to bed. I tried almost everything, but got no relief."

"Now, thanks to Ten Herbs, I have a good appetite, and can eat almost anything without having gas, bloating, or heart palpitation. My bowels are regular, and my liver is more active. Biliousness, dizzy spells and headaches are gone, and the coating has left my tongue. My nerves are stronger. I sleep the whole night through and get up in the morning feeling rested. ## FRENCH PHONE SERVICE CHEAPEST AND POOREST

International News Service.
PARIS, April 25.—The French telephone service is the cheapest in the world.

"And also the poorest," add many thousands of subscribers who are just beginning to grow tired of their bills with the telephone.

If the telephone system in France were even one-half as good as any found in all other cities of the world, they say they would not object to the proposed increase in rates. But since no improvements have ever been attempted, higher prices would be tantamount to "phone banking."

Dashes Through Fire To Save Her Baby

GREENVILLE, Pa., April 25.—Escaping from her home near here with a three months' old baby girl in her arms, Mrs. G. T. She was engaged in putting the baby to sleep in a bedroom of the home, when a gasoline stove is believed to have exploded, and put the kitchen in flames.

To make her escape, the woman had to go through a sheet of fire, grasping her baby in her arms, and hastily wrapping a bathrobe about it, she made her way through the door, and saved it from the slightest burns. The house, a garage and two other out buildings were burned to the ground before help arrived. Her husband was absent at the time. The loss was placed at $3,000.

LONDON WOMEN WILL WEAR COOLER COATS

Merchants Adopt Daylight Savings

Better Business Bureau Merchants Vote To Adopt Daylight Savings Time

WILL OBSERVE NEW TIME ON MONDAY

Next Monday morning New Castle stores will operate on Eastern Daylight Savings time along with the schools, churches and major industries of the city, according to the decision reached at the meeting of the Better Business Bureau of the New Castle Chamber of Commerce which met to discuss the question Wednesday afternoon in the organization headquarters located in the Greer building.

The stores affiliated with the bureau will follow the regular daylight time period as observed by the industries and others in this city as well as in the entire valley.

The period starts this coming Monday morning at which time the stores will open at nine o'clock. Daylight Savings time and close at 5:30 o'clock under the same time regime.

The decision was reached by a motion made by Jacob F. Perelman and seconded by John Abel following a lengthy discussion. Members of the bureau were of the opinion that the five months was longer than they believed necessary but as the schools, churches and industries have voted for the longer period, the merchant members felt that it was the will of the majority.

The meeting was in charge of Emanuel Shenkan, newly elected president of the Better Business Bureau.

GARDNER

Mr. and Mrs. John Washburn of New Castle were coming to Gardner on Sunday afternoon to visit Mr. and Mrs. John Benson, when they found an automobile fast in the mud in the middle of the road. In trying to pass on their way, the Washburn car fell partly down the bank. The men at the Benson home quickly went to the rescue and were soon joined by other neighbors and the car was brought back to the road. No one was injured which was very fortunate, for if the machine had fallen any farther down the bank there might have been sad results.

Their neighbors are sorry to see Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Locke of Gardner, moving this week to Youngstown. Mr. Locke has been poor health for some time and is not able to work.

Mrs. George Stelson of East Brook was a guest last Friday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank M. Hay of Gardner.

Mrs. Mary Baldwin of West Pittsburg spent last Friday with friends at the Constock home at Gardner. Carl Benson of Gardner went with friends to Connery, O., last Sunday.

As the weather was so unfavorable last Sunday it was thought best to recall the appointment for Clinton E. Sankey and it is expected that Mr. Sankey will preach at Gardner the first Sunday in May.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Johnson of New Castle entertained the latter's parents and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Benson and Miss Selma of Gardner, at dinner last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Moore and children of Gardner visited last Saturday evening with the family of Mr. and Mrs. David Yoho of near Coalstown.

Mr. and Mrs. Garth Kennedy of New Castle were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Kennedy of Gardner last Sunday afternoon.

The Rotation Of The Universe

By S. S. MYERS

Some one who signs himself or herself "A Teacher" writes as follows: "If one is on a ship in mid-ocean and passes an island it is not difficult to realize that the ship is moving, and to note the direction in which it is moving, using the island as a gauge. I can realize, therefore, how astronomers know that the earth is moving around the sun by noting its position among the stars. But how can they determine that the Milky Way—our universe—is moving when there is no fixed point in space outside of the universe by which they can gauge their observations?"

I have been anticipating this question for some time, because of a premonition that it would come sooner or later from some one who is thinking for himself. In the first place it is known our universe is flat with a diameter several times its thickness. The explanation is that this great cluster of stars is flattened by its rotation, the same as the earth is flattened at the poles. Now, the rotation of the universe depends not so much upon its size as upon the density with which the stars are scattered through it, and the difference in the velocity of movement of the individual stars or groups of stars as they move around the center, which is calculated to be from 100 million to 400 million years. It is calculated that it takes our solar system 300 million years to make our journey around the center. This may earth's axis does not always point in the same direction; it describes a circle in a little less than 26,000 years. This was explained in a preceding article in discussing the Glacial Periods. Therefore, while you were on the right track, there are several flaws in your observations because you did not take into consideration this variation in the earth's axis, and science must be exact or it is nothing. Hence another mass of calculations must be employed in making allowance for the movement of the earth's axis. But astronomers have persevered and at last have found a fixed standard from which to measure. There is an invariable plane in the solar system and they have reduced their observations to this as a fixed standard by which with the aid of the telescope, the spectroscope, the micrometer and other astronomical instruments they are enabled not only to measure the distance and diameter of a star, but also to determine its course through space and the speed with which it is moving. When the new 200-inch telescope now being constructed is completed it will doubtless reveal new wonders scarcely dreamed of now.

To locate the center around which this rotation takes place would seem like another hard problem, but it has been solved by the drift of the stars. If the stars are moving around a center those on one side of that center will be moving in the opposite direction from those on the other side. Consequently the center must be somewhere near the middle of the region where the apparent drift of the stars is backward; and that has been found to be in the locality of the great star cluster in the constellation Sagittarius.

Several thousand astronomers have gone through a mass of calculations and all have agreed that the region of the universe in which our solar system is located is moving from west to east, while beyond the center the stars are moving in the opposite direction, with those nearest the center moving more swiftly than those farther away.

The Way OF THE World

By GROVE PATTERSON

TWENTY TIMES AS MUCH.
William J. Bozart, superintendent of schools in Chicago, says: "Reading is to me one of the most important features of modern education." One modern educator has said that the best plan is for the student to read twenty times as much as he does. His slogan is: "Read, read, read."
That slogan reads some modification. Some reading is very much worse than none. Read the best books many times; let the cheap ones go. You can't read them all. Discriminate.

LABORING.
It is better to travel than to arrive, said Stevenson. The true happiness is to labor. Happiness and wealth, says Andrew Mellon, can be had in hand. The happiness comes in the achievement, in building up a huge fortune, not in possession of money. Happiness is doing a job as well as you know how.

SPYING.
Nobody loves a spy. Spying is repugnant to the American idea of open fairness. The spy system in federal prisons, to find out what the warden is doing, instituted by Mrs. Wilbrandt, assistant attorney general, won't continue under the Hoover administration. The president doesn't like it, and he reflects the opinion of the American people.

FLYING OUT OF CIVILIZATION.
Airplanes this summer will make trips to the fishing lakes up on the Canadian border and the Lake of Woods region. That will bring the fishing regions of the far north within 12 hours of Chicago. Tired business men, or those who imagine they are tired, can use the latest device of civilization to fly away from it.

GOING A-VISITING.
The 50 principal harbors of Europe are planning to receive a half million visitors from America this summer. Our fellow townsmen and townswomen will wander at will over the interesting places of the old world, in search of ideas and entertainment—mostly entertainment. It's a great thing for the world—this tremendous exodus of thousands each year to other parts of the earth. If tourists will behave themselves they can be a constant force for international peace. Acquaintances and friends abroad mean peace insurance.

Gets Lift From Deputy Sheriff

BILLINGS, Mont., April 25.—Walter Scott, negro porter, will be very careful with whom he rides in the future.

He left a barber shop, where he was employed, taking some hair tonic, appliances and some cash with him. Catching a ride out of town the following day, he was forced to take to the road again when the truck became bogged in a mud hole. His luck held out, apparently, as he approached another car that had stopped on the road.

Scott was given a ride to Hardin, then escorted into the police station there by his kindly benefactor, who happened to be a deputy sheriff from Billings who had heard of the barber shop robbery.

Girl, 13, Tricks Hens Into Laying

International News Service.
NEW BEDFORD, Mass., April 25.—Florence Steadman, 13, of Dartmouth, a suburb of this city, has the champion egg-producing flock of chickens in the state. The girl's flock of 50 Rhode Island red hens produced 1297 eggs, an average of 24 per hen, to win the first prize in the state for the largest egg yield in the month of March.

Florence gets the chickens up at 4:30 in the morning by attaching an alarm clock to the electric light in the coop. When the clock rings the light is turned on and the chickens, thinking it is sunrise, begin to eat. "As long as they keep eating they will lay," Florence grinned.

Let's Go!

Are you ready to "go" after a day's hard work?

If you are tired—lack pep—if your skin is not clear—if your appetite is "gone"—you owe it to yourself and friends to try S.S.S.

S.S.S. tonic effects will make you feel fresh after a day's work.

Loss of appetite, loss of strength, skin eruptions, what is usually known as "rheumatism," that "tired-feeling" and other human ills may be due to your blood not having enough red-cells.

REMEMBER, in years gone by, when you couldn't wait for mealtime; always hungry; ready to go somewhere—to dances, the theatre or to spend the evening with friends?

But why the change? Possibly, overwork, worry, lack of exercise, sickness or some other cause has reduced your building and sustaining "workers"—the red-blood-cells.

Rich, red blood builds and sustains

Every cubic millimeter of the normal, healthy human's blood should contain approximately 5,000,000 red corpuscles—those tiny red particles which flow along the blood stream, giving color to the blood; carrying nourishment to the cells of the body, and working against disease.

Thousands of people have a low blood count—to this may be attributed

Made from fresh vegetable drugs, gathered at the proper season of the year, S.S.S. gives to Nature what it needs to make you feel like yourself again.

73-Day Coma Is Said To Be Lifting

LYNCHBURG, Va., April 25.—Marjorie Dowdy, 10 who has been in a coma at Memorial hospital here since she was struck by an automobile February 8 today waved her hand three times as Dr. Sam Wilson, her physician doing this in response to his request as he started to leave her in the hospital.

Another sign of her improvement was seen in the child's appetite. She seemed to relish beef broth which she took through her mouth. For weeks she has been fed by a nasal tube. She is taking a great deal of nourishment now and Dr. Wilson said he hoped she would be ready to go home in a day or two. This afternoon she completed 1,792 hours of coma.

Many Eskimos of Alaska have replaced their igloo homes, which were dirty and unsanitary, with houses built largely under the direction of American school teachers. The young Eskimos are taught sanitation, ventilation and personal cleanliness in addition to spoken and written English.

Selfishness Found Cause For Divorce

OSISSO, Mich., April 25.—Selfishness is the basic cause of nine out of ten divorces in the United States, according to a committee of three members of the Shlawassee County Ministerial association who conducted a nationwide survey of official marriage and divorce records.

The committee's report sets forth that there were 1,203,694 marriages in the United States in 1927 and 192,037 divorces; an average of one divorce to every 6.2 marriages. In New York the ratio was one divorce to 21 marriages; Georgia, one to 13; Wisconsin one to 8.8; Indiana one to 4.1 and Michigan one to 3.4.

Other high lights of the report show that:

Twice as many women apply for divorce as men.

Most divorce suits are filed by women who have been married two years. Men wait three years.

Divorce actions have increased 300 per cent since 1887.

The average duration of a marriage that ends in a divorce decree is seven years.

Restaurant waiters are increasing three times as fast as our families and restaurant owners four times as fast.

Woman's changed economic status has a great deal to do with the divorce situation.

There was a 60 per cent increase in bakery production from 1914 to 1925, while the population increased but 15 per cent.

Of 325 children in the Michigan state public schools at Coldwater 24 per cent are divorce "orphans."

Wives as well as husbands will part with their children to obtain their freedom.

Among the "extreme and repeated cruelty" grounds cited in divorce complaints, the committee reports the following:

One man left his false teeth lying on the buffet.

One man picked his teeth with a penknife after meals.

One man snored in his wife's sensitive ear.

One man refused to wax his mustache.

One man wore spats to the mortification of his wife.

One man forgot the date of his mother-in-law's birthday.

As remedies the committee suggests "the revival of the old-fashioned religion where grace is pronounced at the table, the Bible read and prayer made in the home, where church attendance is regular, not an incident, and the abolition of ideas of 'companionate marriage.'"

NEW WILMINGTON, April 25.—Final selection of officers for the Booster's association of the college borough took place here recently and James Williamson was named president of the organization. The other officers are: J. C. Monroe, vice-president; Wallace Pitzer, treasurer; and Dan H. McQuiston, secretary.

At the present time the organization claims the support of 250 of the voting citizens of the community, having grown very fast. Beside the officers, the other members on the board of directors are T. O. Hogue and Rev. J. Ralph Neale.

Activity on the part of the association has already been started with the initiation of an inquiry into the reasons for the lowered position of New Wilmington with respect to the county highway improvement program. The New Wilmington-Pulaski improvement plan was dropped from second to fourth place on the list and the Booster's association is instituting an inquiry as to the reasons for such a condition.

Other local activity is also planned by the association and the sentiment with which its purposes are being received by the townspeople argues very well for its success.

A meeting of the local W. C. T. U. organization was held this afternoon in the parlor of the United Presbyterian church. It was very well attended.

May Ask For Bids About May 15 For Garage Building

Building operations for the huge new garage structure which is to be erected by the Lawrence Automobile company of this city have been detained unavoidably, according to the statement of L. C. John, president, on account of the incompleteness of plans.

The new structure which was hoped to have been started near April 1 will not be open for bids until about the middle of May, at which time, all of the plans for the five story 100 by 100 feet addition to the present building will have been completed.

When completed, the new structure will be one of the largest and most modern garage buildings in the section.

History shows that a surprising number of big things had been accomplished in the world before the high-pressure boys dug up the phrase "coordination" effort.

Be Ready

When your Children Cry for It

Baby is likely to wake you any night with that sharp cry which means just one thing—colic! Be ready. Keep a bottle of Fletcher's Castoria in the house. A few drops of this pure vegetable, pleasant-tasting preparation comforts a colicky, fretful or feverish baby in a jiffy. In a few moments your anxiety is over and baby's sleeping soundly again. And you've only done what your doctor would advise. He'll tell you Fletcher's Castoria doesn't contain any harmful drug—that it's safe for the youngest infant and effective for children of all ages in cases of constipation, colic, gas, diarrhea, and these upsets when you don't know just what is the matter. Avoid imitations. Genuine Castoria bears the Fletcher signature.

Where is the kiddie that has to be coaxed?

Once there was a little girl who wouldn't eat her breakfast because she just didn't like the taste of her cereal. So, one morning, her mother surprised her with something new. Something all crunchy and crisp. Something like tissue-thin, toasted-golden nut-meats. Something good... Heinz Rice Flakes! And she ate them all up—and asked for more.

And that's the end of that story—except to say that the little girl's mother noticed how much rosier the little girl's cheeks became after she had been eating these lovely breakfasts for a while.

Nobody knew why—but the reason is this: Heinz Rice Flakes are made by a special, patented Heinz process which transforms the natural roughage of the rice into a pure cellulose that gives the healthful effect of a gentle, natural laxative.

The annual Dollar Day luncheon of the Woman's Missionary society of the First Baptist church was an event of Wednesday at 1 o'clock in the church dining room.

Covers were arranged for about 125 women, each section of which the society is divided sitting at their respective tables. Baskets of daffodils and a color scheme of yellow and white were used for the decoration throughout the dining room. A number of out of town guests were present.

By JOSEPH S. WARD, Jr.
Central Press Staff Correspondent
BOSTON, Mass., April 25.—Massachusetts, which contributed the Sacco-Vanzetti case to the annals of criminology, promises another murder case which may become almost as celebrated a cause.

That is the case involving Gangi Cero and Samuel Gallo, both of whom have been convicted by Massachusetts judges of murdering the same man, Joseph Fantasia. The state does not claim that the killing was committed by two men as only a single shot was fired, but two different juries, at different times, decided that two different men fired the single shot.

Never previously in the history of Massachusetts has such a situation arisen. When a jury returned a verdict of murder in the first degree against Gallo, Cero was already under sentence of death for the crime, and at one time had been in the death house, within hours of the electric chair, before a reprieve arrived.

His Name Reversed
The case has many weird angles. For one thing, the name of the man first convicted for the murder is not Gangi Cero at all, but Cero Gangi. His name was once listed as many names sometimes are, with the last name first. This was copied by some official who failed to notice the comma between the names, and the convicted man has added to legal history under a reversed name.

The killing took place on a crowded street in the East Italian colony, June 11, 1927. Fantasia, the victim, was the brother-in-law of Miss Philomena Romano, who had lived with Gallo at one time. Shortly before the murder, Miss Romano met Gallo and slashed his cheek, though Gallo steadfastly insisted to the police he had been cut in an automobile accident.

When Fantasia was shot down, a passerby saw a man run into a store, he called the police and caused the man's arrest, the prisoner turning out to be Cero. Cero was tried, convicted and sentenced to death. Gallo, accused of attempting to tamper with the witness whose testimony convicted ed Cero, was sentenced to two years in the State prison.

Cero Stabs Gallo
While in prison, Cero broke away from his guards and stabbed Gallo, the two being in the prison yard at the time. Gallo was so seriously hurt that at first his life was despaired of. Then Philomena Romano appeared on the scene.

She made affidavit that she witnessed the shooting, and that Gallo, not Cero, fired the shot. Immediately afterward she disappeared for three weeks, during which wild stories of kidnapping were current. Ultimately she returned, to recant her former statement. This recantation did not last, however, and when Gallo went to trial for the murder for which Cero was under sentence of death, Miss Romano testified against him. At the trial Cero said he had been with Gallo at the time of the shooting, but had nothing to do with it.

Now both men have been granted new trials. Massachusetts is wondering what will happen. At present two men have been convicted of firing a single shot; on the next trial will it be decided neither was guilty? Or will both eventually die, one as principal, the other as accessory?

Start Repairs On Mercer County Roads

Damage Done By April Floods
To Be Repaired By County Officials

MERCER, Pa., April 25.—Repairs that will cost $30,000, on a conservative estimate, will be started on Mercer county roads just as soon as weather conditions will permit, it is made known at the office of the commissioners today.

The roads were damaged by the floods of April. The damage to bridges and roads combined will reach $40,000, it is figured.

The repair work on the roads will be in charge of the township supervisors.

TO TOUR EUROPE
Passports have been issued by the secretary of state to two Mercer county residents who will tour Europe this summer.

Mrs. Clara Tedford of Sharon expects to sail for England about the first of June.

Dr. Homer Henderson of Grove City will tour Europe this summer, sailing in May. Dr. Henderson is pastor of the United Presbyterian church of that city.

WIFE TO FILL OFFICE
Word has arrived here from Harrisburg that Mrs. D. J. Richards of Sharon, widow of the county mercantile appraiser for 1929, will be appointed to fill the vacancy created by the death of her husband.

The work was about 80 per cent. finished when the official took seriously ill and died.

THORN TO RETURN
John Thorn, who has made for himself a national reputation this season in the Yagabond King, a romantic opera in which he appears in the lead comedy role, expects to be home for the summer shortly.

The show is touring the South at the present time.

Due to sickness brought on by overwork, Mr. Thorn is forced to leave the company before the season closes.

PUSH ROAD WORK
Four of the seven miles of improved highway between Clarks Mills and Sandy Lake, being built this summer by Baldwin and Company as a road building project of the county and state will be new road, it is made known.

Two miles out of Sandy Lake and two of Clarks Mills will be entirely new-made road, it is said. The contractor is working steam shovels at each end of the route. Every effort will be made to get the grading completed early so that the ground may settle in time to lay concrete before fall.

PLAN SENTENCE COURT
Judge J. A. McLaughry has set Monday, April 29th, as sentence day for the April criminal sessions now in hearing.

All defendants to criminal actions have been notified to appear on this date for sentence.

Indiana Papers Rap Lindbergh

(International News Service)
INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., April 25.—Two Indiana newspapers recently have taken Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh to task for his abrupt treatment of newspapermen in their attempts to follow his air travels.

The Indianapolis Star said editorially:

"The Colonel's better judgment should recognize a certain responsibility to his fellow citizens until after his marriage to Miss Anne Morrow. The importunities of the reporters and well wishers are undoubtedly irksome, and yet that is the penalty fame must pay. If Colonel Lindbergh will conceal his impatience and give the press some intimation of his flying schedule, he will spare himself considerable annoyance and relieve the country of further unwarranted scares when he is listed in the missing column."

But the patience of the Schelbyville, Ind. Republican with Colonel Lindbergh's secretiveness was not as great.

A recent editorial said: "In recent weeks 'Lindy' has acquired the habit of 'snapping off' the newspapermen in the towns and cities where he lands. This is unfortunate if it is all true. Managing editors do not assign dulleards to go out to meet Lindbergh. The majority of these reporters are better generally versed than is the noted flyer. The newspapers have done more to gain for him his popularity than he has done for himself."

NAMED LIEUTENANT
WASHINGTON, D. C., April 25.—Raymond Holmes Miller, 563 Third street, Butler, has been appointed a second lieutenant in the United States infantry reserves, the Department of War announces.

Amazing NEW Silence distinguishes the 1929 KELVINATOR

Among All Electric Refrigerators

PRODUCT of a company concentrating for 15 years on automatic refrigeration, the New Silent Kelvinator stands today not only an improvement of this great line, but a genuine achievement in domestic electric refrigeration.

It is so positively silent in operation that it is difficult to tell, even while standing close, whether it is running.

Wholly automatic, Kelvinator demands no regulation or attention on your part. It rapidly freezes desserts, salads, and ice cubes, while maintaining scientifically correct temperatures to preserve food and its flavor.

The Kelvinator Corporation, too, builds its own cabinets—models of staunch, roomy convenience with rounded inside corners to permit easy cleaning.

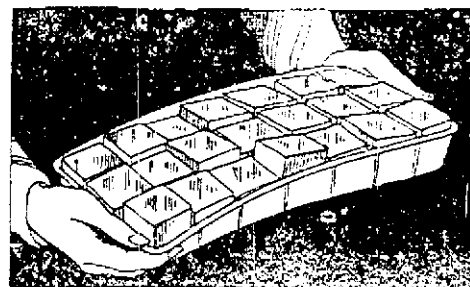

No need to wait to enjoy a modern automatic Kelvinator in your home. Buy it now on Kelvinator's attractive ReDisCo monthly budget plan, and note the savings and benefits it immediately brings to your home.

T H E R E L I A B L E KELVINATOR

Flexible Rubber Ice Trays—An Appreciated Convenience

Made of purest and highest grade rubber, the new rubber tray for ice cubes, flexes easily in the hand, releasing in a flash—one or a dozen ice cubes—without melting or hammering. No holding of frozen trays under the water, no wasted ice supply, and precious minutes saved daily whenever ice is needed.

The Kelvinator Cold-Keeper—A Constant
Reservoir of Cold

The New Silent Kelvinator is far more economical because of its Cold Keeper—a reservoir of cold that holds its low temperature for long periods and quickly freezes desserts, ice cubes and salads. So true is this that the Kelvinator mechanical unit starts only one-third as often as any other electric refrigerator.

Diphtheria Rate Shows Decrease

HARRISBURG, April 25.—Fewer cases of diphtheria have been reported in the first three months of 1929 than in any corresponding period on record in Pennsylvania. Scarlet fever also is less prevalent than usual, but there are many more than the usual number of reports of measles and whooping cough in the state, according to the March morbidity report just issued by the bureau of vital statistics.

In the month of March, 693 cases of diphtheria were reported from all parts of the state. This is an increase over the February report, but it is the lowest March report on record. Officials of the health department, however, are inclined to warn against over-confidence with regard to this disease. The danger of recurrent epidemics is still present and will be until a much larger proportion of young children are immunized with toxin anti-toxin. Even in March there were three of the smaller cities—Shenandoah, Carbondale and Old Forge in which the diphtheria morbidity rates were high.

Scarlet fever appeared to be less prevalent than in any March since 1923. This favorable condition of low prevalence has continued now for several months. During the month more cases were reported from the eastern than from the western counties.

Measles epidemic. Measles was epidemic in many widely separated parts of the state. In all, 8711 cases were reported, the largest number reported in any corresponding month since 1926. In recent years, measles has appeared to run in three-year cycles, epidemics occurring in 1920, 1923 and 1926. The present season seems to be continuing the cycle.

Whooping cough was also more

Parking Taboo In Downtown Alleys

"Parking is forbidden at all times on Market, Apple, Cochran, Sycamore and other downtown alleys," declared Chief of Police C. C. Horner today, "and in spite of the efforts of the police in tagging machines parked in these places especially on Saturday and other evenings the practice is being continued."

"We are determined," continued the chief, "to put a stop to parking in the narrow business thoroughfares because of the danger of blocking them in case of fire, also causing foot traffic to go in the center of the alleys, a dangerous practice. It's a problem and those who receive tags for violating these regulations may be assured that they will not be exonerated from the payment of the fines imposed in such cases.

Student Uses Movable Home

COLUMBUS, Mo., April 25.—John Davenport of Mercer, Mo., wanted to go to college but didn't have the money to pay room rent so he built his own home and moved in to Trenton so that he could attend junior college there. When he has completed his 2-year course he will move his little house to Columbus and finish his college education at the university.

When Davenport wants to "move" he pulls 25 bolts and the house is ready to be packed on a truck. He can rebuild in six hours. He plans to settle outside the city limits or wherever he can find the cheapest site. The house is a one-room affair, heated by a little coal stove. John cooks his own meals on a three-burner oil stove.

He gets his supplies from the store room of home-canned vegetables and fruits at home. He uses his Ford car to transport the food.

The windows are large and neatly curtained. The furniture is adequate but meagre. The little shelter is electrically lighted.

52 YEARS TEACHER, AT 70, GETS BICYCLE AS PRESENT

WOODLAND, Cal., April 25.—Miss Minnie Cross has taught Sunday school for 52 years without interruption and what do you suppose she got from her class as a present? A bicycle!

So today Miss Cross who is 70 and a Woodland pioneer is brimful of happiness, for her old wheel is rickety from years of service. She claims to be the oldest consistent bicycle rider in the Sacramento valley with a record of 10,000 miles peddled in 30 years. And she still rides to Sunday school class on her bike.

Turkish Soldier, Denied Extra Wife, Finds Albania Progresses

KING ZOGU

Central Press Cable

TIRANA, Albania, April 25.—Mr. Muhamed Hazim, a stray ex-Turkish soldier from the Turco-Balkan war of 1913, thinks there is no liberty in Albania. As a minority of one he appealed to the Albanian authorities to respect his right to have more than one wife. In fact, he believes life is drab if a man cannot have a harem.

His case was brought to the attention of the authorities the other day when he filed an application to marry. It was disclosed that his first wife was a gypsy who had also strayed into the country just before the World War. His prospective wife also is of Turkish origin.

Must Keep Up With News

The ex-soldier could not be convinced that a Turk in Albania could not have his own way in family matters if what he did was not in any way clashing with native customs. Nevertheless, he was advised to follow the daily events closely, for in Turkey as well as in Albania, the institution of polygamy has been abolished.

Would-Be Bride Angry

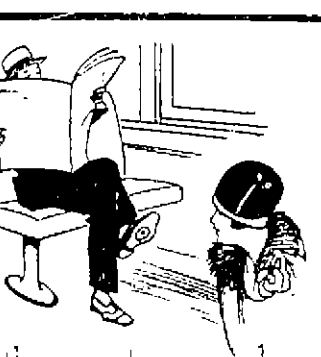

Moreover, he was informed that polygamy is forbidden in Albania to all residents of the country, whether they be citizens or aliens. At once the young lady deserted the government premises, expressing indignation and scoffing at the married man.

She hinted moreover, that the refusal would cause a feud. But since the government had a hand in this case, neither the feud nor polygamy had a ghost of a chance to thrive. King Zogu has the situation well in hand. And he enforces the laws of his country, especially those governing feuds and marriages, with an iron hand.

Saturday morning, between 9 and 10 o'clock, hundreds of loaves of bread will be dropped on parachutes from two airplanes. No matter what part of the city you live in your section will receive a full share. Give the kiddies a chance to get a thrill, permit them to seek the parachutes and their wholesome cargoes of fresh New Castle Made Bread. When you send them skipping to the store be certain you tell them it is NEW CASTLE MADE BREAD you wish.

Baton Club Is One Of Interest At Franklin

Much interest is being manifested in the Ben Franklin junior high school baton club which has been organized this semester at the 6 o'clock. At this time three members of the baton club will appear in the role of director. Miss Eleanor Matt, a member of the baton club, will conduct the group through "National Honor March". Samuel Dennis, member of the baton club, will direct that organization. "Connecticut March", and William Chellis, member of the baton club, will direct them in "Activity March". Members of this club are as follows: Dorothy Baldwin, Ruth Crisell, Eleanor Matt, Alberta Beecher, Senior high school, Roberta Stutzinger, Helen MacFadden, Theresa Maunt, Samuel Dennis, Ann Levenson, John Morgan, William Chellis, Robert Brown, John Donnell, Norman Lewis and David Lewis.

At the present time the members are studying Prof. Karl W. Gehrkens book on "Conducting". Mr. Gehrkens is an authority in this line and although this same book is extensively used in teachers' training school throughout the country, it is written in a style so clear and simple that the boys and girls of Franklin are deriving great benefit from it.

Members of the club bring their batons with them to each meeting and a part of the meeting is always spent in actual conducting.

An example of just what the young people are learning and attempting to do will be given at the spring concert by the instrumental music club.

Scientist Will Hunt Atlantis, Explore Desert

Divers Will Explore Waters Off Mauretania For Lost Continent

TOURISTS VIOLATE PICTURESQUE ISLE

By ROBERT W. THOMPSON, International News Service Staff Correspondent

PARIS, April 25.—Bound for the mid-Saunier, where men once built and women rule, Count Byron de Proctor, archaeologist, has arrived in Paris with several machine guns and deep-sea diving equipment.

Divers will be called in on a secondary attempt of his expedition, which is to ascertain if the lost Continent of Atlantis lies submerged off the coast of Mauretania.

The machine guns are scientific preparation against attacks of marauding tribesmen in the land "where women rule."

"On my last trip to the desert several natives from the coast were killed in fights with comrades but I hope the machine guns will enable us to keep the expedition intact," he said.

"We are going to seek the remains of the oldest man in the world, and the rest in a region infested with Tuaregs, a pure white race of vicious tendencies. With them the social order is reversed. Men are considered weaklings and kept beveled."

"Supplies for the expedition are already on the way to Africa. The machine guns will be mounted on six twelve-wheeled automobiles. Our itinerary covers 12,000 miles. Contrary to popular belief there are snow-capped mountains in the middle of the Sahara. Some of our research will be made in these mountains.

The latest American invasion which is causing dissatisfaction among the French is that of the picturesque old Ile St. Louis, a charming little Seine river island in the very center of old Paris.

Within the past few years it has become infested with Americans who are demolishing, constructing and rearranging things to suit themselves. Not content with changing the outside of the lovely old mansions, many of them are even breaking up splendid old interiors to install modern conveniences and this is going a bit too far, according to certain French inhabitants of the island. They have begun a campaign to have the island classed as a relic, not to be touched and spoiled by vandals from the other side of the water.

"American money has raised havoc with our little island," protests Monsieur Pierre Pollequin. "One American has even changed a fine old mansion into a studio hotel. And a woman who classes herself with the nobility has even hit upon the idea of putting up a sky-scraper."

The American does not dance. He simply walks around the floor talking with his partner. This is the opinion of an Englishman writing in one of the Paris newspapers comparing the dancing styles of different nations.

"Dancing as such is no account to an American," says Mr. Modest. "It is a social exercise, a medium of conversation, light or serious. Stochastically his feet keep time with the music, that's all."

"That is why waltz tunes are played to empty floors on the other side of the water. The waltz requires thinking out. It demands perfect rhythm, smoothness, steering and concentration."

In Paris, he finds the style completely different, a combination of the Russian jete de ventre, the American desire for social intercourse and the English desire to dance. It is not only an exercise, as anyone can testify, who has ever spent an

CONGRESSMAN AT WHOOPEE PARTY

Also Allege Aid To Mayor Walker Took Part In Affair

(International News Service) CHICAGO, April 25.—A New York congressman and an alleged aid to Mayor Jimmy Walker of New York participated in the so-called "Whoopee Party" staged by Chicago sanitary flood control merrymakers at the Waldorf-Astoria hotel in November 1927, evidence uncovered by the state's attorney's office here today revealed.

Trustees Harry Berner of the board appeared today and denied any knowledge of the party or that the board authorized a payment of $6,900 for alleged damages to the hotel at the party.

The state's attorney said the name of the New York congressman and aid to Walker would be announced later.

No Indictment Against Bell

Grand Jury Fails To Return Indictment In New York Sensation

(International News Service) NEW YORK, April 25.—The grand jury declined Wednesday to return an indictment in the death of Arthur W. Smith, for which Samuel E. Bell, wealthy Baltimore oil operator, is at liberty under $10,000 bail on a charge of suspicion of homicide.

Failure of the grand jury to act means that Bell's bail will be discharged and the charge against him dismissed.

The grand jury heard evidence in the case for two hours and among the witnesses appearing before it were four women who attended the bridge party which preceded Smith's death. Mrs. Robert L. Brown of Lexington, Ky., over whom Bell and Smith quarreled, did not testify.

Her testimony as given in the magistrate's court was read to the grand jury, however.

Smith, a 50-year-old Cleveland business man, died of a fractured skull after he had been knocked down or had fallen on the sidewalk in front of the Hotel Marguery, on Park avenue, where he had been a guest of Mrs. Robert W. Schuette at a party in her apartment.

Woman Is Victim Of Fortune Teller

Puts $120 Under Pillow Expecting It To Double But Loses Out

UNIONTOWN, Pa., April 25.—"This said that there is one born every minute, and Mary Koske of 131 Penn street, Uniontown, had her minute Wednesday. As a result, she is out $120. Mary has asked the police to locate and arrest the gypsy fortune teller who advised her to place her savings under a pillow at her home; to leave it there for 24 hours and in that time the money would be doubled.

Mary says she did so, as she was most desirous of having $240 instead of half that amount. Before the close of the 24-hour period, the natural curiosity of the woman caused her to take a peek under the pillow to see just how the money was "growing." To her dismay and astonishment, the roll had entirely disappeared. She lost time rushing several blocks to the police station and giving a close description of the fortune teller.

FEW RECORD CATCHES

HARRISBURG, April 25.—Reports to the Board of Fish Commissioners here indicate that the best catches on the opening day of the season were made in the northern tier counties, where a steady rain storm did not break until late in the day. In most sections a cold rain kept fishermen from the streams.

Rains later in the week made many streams unfit for fishing. As soon as the streams subside, N. R. Buller, commissioner of fisheries, predicts record catches.

ENGLAND STILL AFTER SHAKESPEARE INCOME TAX

(International News Service) LONDON, April 25.—British income tax officials miss no bet. They still have William Shakespeare on their books.

PAPER-HANGER SAYS KONJOLA ENDED MISERY

Was Unable To Work At His Trade Until Modern Compound Brought Relief.

"I was not able to work at my trade as a paper hanger and painter for a long time," said Mr. C. E. Roberts, 114 West 21st street, Erie, "due to a severe case of kidney trouble. My back was weak, and pained me all the time. My whole system was full of poisons, and my skin was of a deep mahogany color. My stomach was also in a bad condition. Food seemed to be digested with great difficulty. I could not sleep at night, and was subject to dizzy spells."

Konjola had worked wonders in the case of a friend of mine, so I decided to give it a trial. I noticed good results immediately, and three bottles put me in first class shape. I am back on the job again, and my kidneys do not give me the least bit of trouble. My color is better, throughout this entire system."

Continue Grand Jury Probe Into DeKing Slaying

Grand Jurors At Geneva Ill. Attempt To Befuddle Youngster

SEVERAL "MYSTERY" WITNESSES ON HAND

GENEVA, Ill., April 25.—Several witnesses since brought to Geneva, Ill., to appear before the grand jury today to testify in the slaying of William DeKing, shot by dry agent's raiding her home on information received from a prohibition informer who confessed he lied.

"These 'mystery' witnesses," it was rumored, were to be interrogated concerning alleged sales of wine in the DeKing home in Albany.

"If," declares Joseph DeKing, husband of the slain woman, "any such evidence as this is given, it will be perjured evidence—dastardly evidence."

"But I wouldn't be surprised to see it come forth. People who pay for beer would not hesitate to buy some grand jury witnesses who would help them clear their skins."

Counsel for the DeKing family today heatedly described the treatment of DeKing and his 12-year-old son, Gerald, by the grand jurors as obviously an attempt to justify the shooting through insinuations that the boy was a fabricator and the father a bootlegger.

Youth In Tears.
Little Gerald emerged from the grand jury room on the verge of tears, declaring: "They didn't even let me have my own beer. They wanted to get me mixed up in what I was saying. They tried to get me to say daddy was a bootlegger."

The boy said the jurors endeavored to persuade him to say his mother was shot accidentally by Deputy Sheriff Roy Smith after the youngster had shot Smith in the leg.

"But they couldn't get me mixed up," Gerald said. "Only they sort of scared me the way they were going after me."

Attorney Albert J. Kelley, representing the DeKings, charged that pertinent information is being withheld from the grand jury.

"It looks," he said, "as though this grand jury investigation will bring out only a hazy-picked set of facts—only such circumstances the divulgence of which will be satisfactory to certain individuals."

The inquiry is in charge of State's Attorney George D. Carbery. It was an affidavit signed by Eugene Boyd Fairchild, "55-a-case" investigator in the employ of Carbery, that led to the raid in which Mrs. DeKing was killed.

Trooper Drops Charge Against Patrick Fagan

Charge Against President Of Mine Workers Union Is Dismissed Today

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, April 25.—A charge of rioting against P. T. Fagan, president of district No. 5, United Mine Workers, in the coal strike a year ago was quashed in criminal court today when State Trooper Lawrence Sapudor, prosecuting officer, testified before Judge James B. Gray he was willing to drop the case.

Fagan was arrested on the picket line at the Maid mine of the Meigs-Glance Mining company at Trevesky, March 22, 1928. Seventy-five pickets also arrested by troopers, have not been called for trial.

Fagan said today his counsel, Attorney O. E. Eaton, would determine whether he would accept a cut from $5,000 to $3,000 in damages awarded in his suit against the Pittsburgh Terminal Coal corporation. Judge J. H. Gray, in ordering the reduction yesterday, on ground that the award was excessive, gave Fagan 15 days to accept the $3,000 or a new trial would be ordered.

Smith Takes Four Rounds, Martin Gets Three, Rest Even

JUDGES UNANIMOUS IN THEIR DECISION

By ED FRITZ
Steve Smith, 125 Bridgeport, Conn., took a 10-round decision from Andy Martin, 125 1-2 Boston, last night at Jolly Bowl. It was a battle from start to finish and fans who missed the show can not get down a regret in their hearts.

Martin started fast, but his left hand, which was hurt, had considerable trouble to do with his showing in the last half of the fight as the hand gave him trouble. At the end of the battle the judges, Dugan and Fox, awarded the decision to Smith.

Andy came from his corner bobbing and weaving in the first session and crawled all over Smith, who apparently was slow to start. Martin took the second round and gave Steve a nice boxing lesson. Smith turned to action and held Andy even in the third.

Martin gave Smith a nice boxing lesson in the fourth round. He boxed at long range and tried to keep Smith from getting close, as every time Steve got near enough he bombed the body and put short jolts to the chin.

He ducked most of Smith's long leads but into a healthy right to the chin that did him no particular good. Steve put two left hooks to the body, but his rally as the round ended was not sufficient to give him an even break in the chapter.

Smith Opens Up
Smith seemed to have gotten over his sluggishness in the fifth and he worked right and left to the body. Martin's right to the head beat Smith's left. He sent four rights, all light, to the jaw. Smith worked close and whaled Martin severely about the body.

After the fighting Andy worked cautiously. In fact, he tried to tie Smith up at close quarters, but the bombardier was too strong for Martin and his weight told. Before the session was over Smith had landed twice to the stomach and twice to the head.

Steve fought viciously to the body in the sixth and after Martin made his right miss he put a left hook to the chin. Martin sent a good right to the heart and a left to the stomach. Smith made Martin miss and forced Andy around the ring.

Martin seemed tired and in a duel with lefts Smith outboxed Martin, something which was entirely unexpected for, but no doubt Andy's injury to his left hand had considerable to do with the fighting at this stage, which swung to Smith's favor.

Eager to Fight
Just before the round ended Martin stepped inside of Smith's left and landed two rights to the jaw, but the punch failed to keep Smith from rushing. The round went to Smith. He seemed as fresh as when he started, only more vicious and eager to fight.

When the seventh opened Smith trailed Martin and sent a flock of short rights to the head. Martin commenced ducking and forced Smith to miss plenty. Andy put a right to the jaw. Smith tossed a right and a left in return to Martin's head. They sparred.

While they were fighting in the center of the ring Martin sent a right to the body and Smith retaliated. Smith shot a terrific left hook to the jaw and it incensed Martin so that he forgot his left and stood up and slugged with Smith.

The session went to Smith and the crowd applauded when they went to their corners and emerged for the eighth. They swung rights and lefts for the head and missed. Smith's left beat Martin's right. The punch hit Martin on the chin. He ducked away from Smith.

Nails Smith's Heart
Andy sent a terrific right over Smith's heart and they milled to the stomach. Martin ducked a left lead and both landed rights to the body, and when Martin forced Smith into a corner he kept fighting back instead of clinching. The round was even.

Martin opened the ninth with a right to the chin, but Smith came back with a hard left hook to Martin's jaw. The boys slowed Martin up. Martin sent a right to the jaw. Smith clinched. They were broke and then went back to infighting.

Smith had the better of this phase of mulling. Martin broke loose and put two rights to the heart. Smith missed a left and as he walked in Martin sent two to the body. Smith pounded Martin around the stomach and chopped his head with rights.

They wrestled to a corner and Martin held his chin high, which gave Smith a chance to abandon the attack to the wind and open on the face. He nailed Martin several times before Andy pulled his chin on his breast.

Holds Steve Even
When the tenth opened Martin faded before Smith, who swung out with both hands. Smith caught Martin with a hard right and left to the head and stomach. Martin landed two short rights to the chin and Martin moved away and commenced boxing.

He jabbed with his injured left and put four light rights to the body. Smith forced him to close quarters and had the best of the infighting. Martin sent two hard rights to the jaw when they broke and they were fighting at close range at the bell and the round was even.

A recapitulation shows that Martin took the first, second and fourth, Smith the fifth, sixth, seventh and ninth, and the third, eighth and tenth rounds were even. Smith was too strong too tough and excelled at close range, and Martin's left hand-decided his boxing.

The judges were Dugan and Fox and the referee George Chip. Larry Gent was in charge of the evening's festivities, being the deputy of the commissioner of boxing, Harvey Boyle. The crowd was not large, due to counter attractions.

Athletes Ready For Penn Relays

Cream Of National Colleges Gather In Philadelphia For Big Two-Day Meeting

Philadelphia, April 25.—Athletes from far and near arrived here today for the annual two-day athletic carnival at Franklin Field Friday and Saturday sponsored by the University of Pennsylvania. Fully 4,000 track and field stars are expected to participate in the various events. There are 100 events listed on the two-day program. Eighty-four runners will take part in the four-mile relay championship event alone. Paavo Nurmi, the silent Finn, who will attempt to break the world's records for the two and three mile events is on the field ready for the starter's gun. St. Clair Davidson, Canadian star miler will oppose Nurmi, and Hugo Quist, his manager, arrived late yesterday.

Teams from Harvard and Hamilton College, Institute of Hamilton, Canada, are expected before nightfall. Other collegiate stars began arriving on the first train today. Indiana University is the favorite to win the four-mile relay which, due to the galaxy of star teams entered, is attracting the most attention. North Carolina, last year's winner, N. Y. U., Penn State, Notre Dame, Cornell, Columbia, Maine, Lincoln, Seton Hall, Michigan State, Wisconsin, Harvard, Boston College, Dartmouth and Pennsylvania all have entered teams.

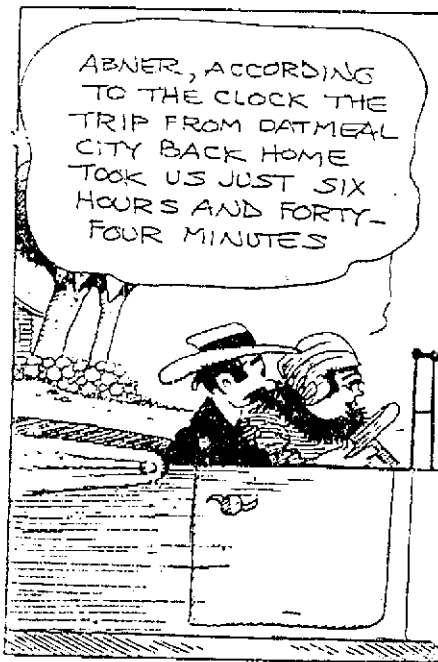

The mile event will furnish a chance for comparison between Jack Montgomery, Penn Star, Orval Martin, of Purdue, the Western Conference champion, and Leo Lemmond, of Boston.

The decathlon events slated to be run off on the first day of the meet also are attracting much attention.

Wolfe, Jennings And Mozdy Win

King And Collura Go Big; Jennings Pulls Big Surprise

MOZDY AND DONATO PLEASE FIGHT FANS

By ED FRITZ
Charlie Kid Wolfe, formerly of Columbus, O., now of Charleston, Rochester and other places, last night defeated Tom McCafferty who is located here with Jimmy Dime. The bout was the third round semi-final to the Smith-Martin fracas at the Jolly Bowl.

Wolfe weighed 155½, and McCafferty 152½, and they tossed all sorts of punches toward each other. During the first four rounds they punched and swung so much they were practically exhausted from their own efforts but the fight traveled the full limit.

Good Classy Bout.
Leo Mozdy, Erie, and Mickie Donato, Ashtabula, flyweights, furnished six rounds of classy fighting. It was a main bout in itself and no two boys have ever made a better showing.

Mozdy was given the decision. Jackie King, formerly Young Shiek, 152½, and Bobby Collura, 139½, Wampum, and Pittsburgh, put on a four-round whirlwind which was filled with punch from the first until the last bell. It was called a draw.

Bobby was dropped for a count of seven in the first round and another wallop on the chin dropped him for a count of one but he gamely got up just before the bell rang. Collura slugged it out in the second round and in the third King was dizzy.

Collura Willing.
Jackie came back strong in the fourth and found Collura willing to trade punches. The fight was so hot and Collura came back so good after the knockdowns in the first that the judges believed he was entitled to a draw.

The big surprise of the evening was the defeat of Bobby Belford, veteran of Alliance, weighing 133½, by Johnny Jennings, southpaw of New Castle, who weighed 131½. Belford did not understand a southpaw style.

Jennings dropped Bobby just before the bell rang and he was helped to his corner. In the second Belford was forced around the ring and he was ragged as the bell ended.

Jennings Takes Bout.
Belford tipped Jennings in the third and tossed a mean uppercut to Johnny's head. Belford appeared to be growing better as the round ended, but in the fourth Jennings got to Belford again and rocked him with lefts to the head.

Bobby was weak from the shellacking and it would have been only a question of time until Jennings would have rocked him to sleep. It made Jennings' sixth victory, five knockouts and one decision in a total of 12 rounds of actual fighting.

American Golfers Stage Final Practice Session; Tourney Opens Friday

(International News Service) LEEDS, Eng., April 25.—As members of the American and British Ryder cup teams played their final practice rounds on the Moortown course today in preparation for the opening matches tomorrow, the chief topic of conversation at the club house was whether or not Captain Walter Hagen made a mistake in omitting Horton Smith's name from the American lineup for the foursomes tomorrow.

Smith, the 20-year-old "baby" of the team, who stole much of Hagen's thunder by winning most of the winter tournaments in the United States, was fourth and Guisto Umeck of Italy will play in the singles on Saturday fifth.

Pirates Defeat Chicago Cubs In Thirteenth, 5-4

Earl Sheely, Produces Single That Ends Great Opening Day Game

PIRATES PLAY FINE DEFENSIVE GAME

By J. H. WATKINS
PITTSBURGH, April 25.—Thirteen is considered a very unfortunate number by the most of our sportsmen, but to the Pittsburgh Pirates the "thirteen" turned out to be a very good omen. The Pirates yesterday afternoon at the big Smoky City orchard whipped the highly touted Chicago Cubs 5 to 4.

It was left to Earl Sheely, big blonde first sacker discarded by the White Sox, and later with Sacramento of the Coast League, to grab the spotlight. Earl's timely bingle into center field with Traynor occupying second base won the game. Upwards of 30,000 dyed-in-the-wool baseball fans went home feeling that the opening day ceremonies had left nothing in the way of baseball to be desired.

Burlingame, Brooklyn castoff, tossed them up, for the Pirates and twirled a fine game. Grimes was nipped for seven hits and four runs in eleven frames. Stew Swetonic, Pittsburgh sandlot star sent to the mound in the twelfth for the Pirates and got credit for the victory. Young Mr. Horne, a rookie pitching for the first time as a Cub, was the losing pitcher. Horne had relieved Root in the seventh, and up until Sheely spilled the soup, had pitched a great game for a youngster. Horne gave Pittsburgh but three hits and one run in six and two-thirds innings, his greatest piece of work took place in the eighth when he fanned Paul Waner and Grantham and made Traynor go out on a short pop fly.

Root Chased
The Pirates combed Charley Root for five hits and four runs in the third frame. Coburn Jones, playing short in place of Sparky Adams led off with a single, and Paul Waner, Traynor, Lloyd Waner, and Sheely delivered hits that drove the players around the sacks.

The Cubs needed Grimes for a run in the fourth. Grimm doubled and tallied on a single by Angley. The McCarthy men scored two more in the seventh. Angley walked, Heathcote batted for Root and was safe when Sheely tossed to Jones to get Angley. English singled and Heathcote reached third, and tallied when Cuyler filled out to Lloyd Waner in deep center. English scored in the same inning.

The visitors deadlocked the game in the eighth. Wilson led off with a fly to Traynor. Stephenson walked. Grimm was tossed out by Root with Stephenson going to third. Angley singled and Stephenson tallied.

The ninth, tenth, eleventh and twelfth failed to produce any runs, with many sparkling plays uncared to cut off runs.

One of the features of the battle that proved amusing to Grimes as well as the baseball fans, occurred in the third inning, when with two bases occupied with Chicago runners, the mighty Mr. Rogers Hornsby was fanned by Grimes. The "Rajah" kicked on the third strike that umpire Moran called but to no avail.

Ideal weather prevailed for the kickoff in Pittsburgh. If Sheely hadn't saw fit to place one of Horne's benders out into the garden in the thirteenth the game would have been called on account of darkness.

Weatherman's Aid Needed At Course

Some Good Hot Dry Days Would Aid Work At Muncy Golf Course

One member of the new Municipal Golf Club whose help is needed at this time is the weatherman. All the workmen in the county could be out there ditching and grading and sowing seed, but unless the weatherman comes to the rescue and dries out some low spots in the course the opening of the club will be delayed. Some of the finishing touches will begin to appear shortly. The driving trees are about ready to be installed and the fairways are beginning to cover themselves with the green carpet that is so necessary to good golf. At the present time ditching is the order of the day. The ground near the old Princeton road is low and soggy and must be drained in order to make it fit for play.

It is planned to open the new course some time around July 1st, according to the men in charge of the project, but this opening may be delayed if the spring is a wet one.

County Baseball In Action Friday

Two County Class B League Games Occur Friday Afternoon

Two county high school class B baseball varieties are scheduled by the athletic committee of the schools to clash on the various diamonds Friday evening of this week.

In the eastern section the line up for the afternoon includes East, Brook at Volant and Plaingrove at Princeton. New Wilmington will be idle for the day.

In the western section the day's work will not occur until Tuesday, April 30. No games are scheduled in this section due to the fact that several of the schools in this section are participating in the sectional musical contest at Erie.

Athletics Lead In Junior Loop

Defeat Of Washington By Athletics Yesterday Brings New American League Leader

GRAVES RELINQUISH NATIONAL LEADERSHIP

By LES CONKLIN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, April 25.—The National League race today has settled down into the regular April procedure—a case of the three strong western clubs cutting each others' throats, while the New York Giants, the only ball team in the Eastern division of the loop, pile up a comfortable lead. The state of affairs probably will continue until a week from tomorrow when the St. Louis Cardinals open the Eastern invasion against the Giants here.

The Giants are back in first place today while the Cubs, Pirates and Cards are practically deadlocked as a result of Chicago's 5 to 4 defeat by Pittsburgh yesterday, but the Cubs waged a game uphill fight and finally won out on Sheely's double in the thirteenth.

Carl Hubbell, elongated New York southpaw, demonstrated that he is as good as ever when the Giants swamped the Phils 9 to 2. Jackson and Ott contributed home runs.

Mack's Best Senators
With the aid of heavy hitting by Fox and Simmons, George Earnshaw beat Washington, 9 to 4, and lifted the Athletics into first place in the American League. Fox had four hits, including a homer.

The Yankees handed the Red Sox a 9 to 3 shellacking. Hoyt outpitching Ruffing.

A Frank Merriwell catch by Harry Rice in the ninth insured Detroit's 7 to 6 victory over Cleveland. After a stormy slide that took a ten-foot dive out of the turf, the little Tiger outfielder, saved the game by spearing Luke Sewell's Texas Leaguer.

Cleveland dropped all the way from first place to fourth.

Having performed their season's stunt by leading the National League for a week, the Boston Braves lost to Brooklyn again 5 to 3, and dropped to second place. Jumbo Jim Elliott, Brooklyn's 235-pound southpaw, helped win his own game with a single.

Other scheduled games were postponed on account of rain.

Through The Eyes Of A Veteran

His Greatest Inning—In The World's Series With Detroit—1907

By JOHNNY EVERS
Central Press Special Writer
In nearly every great game, no matter whether it develops into an overtime battle or not, there is usually one particular inning where heroes are made and the fate of battle hangs in the balance.

There have been several instances in pennant races where the tide to the flag hinged upon the result of a single game. And I shall always believe that the fate of a world's championship hinged upon the outcome of one short inning.

This was in that hard fought series between the Cubs and the Detroit Tigers in 1907, a series that many figures to have been an easy one for the National League, but yet was a pretty tough proposition for us until we finally got the Tigers goat. The Junco's were anything but easy in those days. They had sluggers like Cobb, Crawford, Rossman and others who had clouded their way through the American League ranks to a championship, and great a team as the Cubs really were. Manager Frank Chance knew that we would have to show at our very best to keep the National League colors on top.

The Cubs won the opening contest though it took 12 innings and a wild heave to give us the verdict.

We had the edge over the Tigers when the series shifted to Detroit and we opened there on a bitterly cold day.

The Tigers still believed that their chance of winning was good. For this game they had Wild Bill Donovan on pitching duel, with Donovan and Brown burning the ball across the rubber so fast that the ball, doubtless, were unable to meet it. We got an early jump on our rivals and when the Tigers went to bat in the sixth we were leading by the score of 1 to 0.

This sixth inning is the one I have in mind when I say that I believe it decided the title to the world's championship. Charlie O'Leary, now a coach for the Yankees and one of the cleverest base runners in the country at that time, opened up with a safe hit. Sam Crawford duplicated the drive but the wonderful outfielding of Schulte and Hoffman held O'Leary at second. At this point Ty Cobb, then the bright particular star of the American League and the terror of all pitchers, came to bat, and as Ty was just as likely to bust the ball as to hunt it, the Cub defense for a moment was considerably worried.

Brown, Chance and Kling held a brief conference. It was decided that Ty would try and hunt the ball to advance the base runners and perhaps beat it out himself. Chance told the infield to play deep while O'Leary's brains agreed to match the keen witted pitcher flared that Cobb would really be going into our hands by leaving the ball down and he decided to make it easy for him.

Motioning for Steinfield, the third baseman to play close to his bag, Brown served the ball up to Cobb, but gave him one right on the outside—a nice ball to hunt but one that would force him to hit towards third.

As the ball left Brown's hand, the pitcher shot toward the third base line scooped up the sphere and then tossed it to third for a forecourt. Cobb would really be going into our hands by leaving the ball down and he decided to make it easy for him.

The Chicago supporters went wild as we came back to our dugout.

That was the only thing I can recall where four men were retired. We found out in the very next round that the ball Rossman allowed to be go by was a called third strike and that there was no necessity for a play on Cobb at second. But we didn't know it until Rossman went to bat the next round to be waved aside by Umpire Sheridan. Rossman wanted to know why and was amazed to learn that he had been struck out by Brown in the preceding chapter.

Dempsey Considers Several Offers For Heavyweight Battles

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, April 25.—As a promoter, this man Dempsey may be just a good prize fighter in New York, estimated on what he has done to date, but he's still a work to the rest of the populace and he proved it today when he declared that he was considering offers to promote fights in at least fifteen cities throughout the nation. Among those mentioned off-hand were Philadelphia, Cleveland, St. Louis, Los Angeles, Toronto, Montreal, Windsor, Ont., Chicago, Detroit and Tampa, Fla., and the boy friend indicated that there were others equally insistent that life wouldn't be quite the same without him.

Asheville, he said, would like him to come down there and put on another "Stinking fight," it being that city's contention that it can draw more Georgians than did Miami Beach for the gripping encounter with Sharkey.

The invitation is said to have come from the American Legion, which claims to have a 40,000 arena ready to his hand. St. Louis wants him to dedicate its new coliseum with a big time fight. Cleveland places a 15,000 arena at his disposal. Chicago is the scene of negotiations for an indoor arena site and Detroit finds him fixing to play outdoors this summer with the first good spot that he can wangle.

Philly Makes Offer.
The Philadelphia bid, forwarded by George Orsen, is said to have offered Dempsey the use of the municipal stadium, in case he discovers that he has a fight too big for Ebbets Field.

The young man, thus, might find himself in the incongruous position of promoting a fight in the stadium where he blew the title to Tunney.

However, the fact of the matter is that so far he has no fight too big for Ebbets Field. I'm pretty sure of this because it is a matter of record that he has no fight at all. He, in fact, has been doing nothing on a very elaborate scale for the first several months of his career as a promoter here and the belief is gaining acceptance that he is likely to be without particular significance to New York boxing this year. There is only one absolute exception to this statement. It calls for Dempsey to give himself up and publicly confess that he is a prize fighter. As such, he can dominate the heavyweight situation and make the Garden Corporation, or any other pander to him.

Hopes To Stage Fight.
As a local promoter, he figured to put on a few fights at Ebbets Field provided he gets the men he wants. It doesn't seem to have any definite idea of what the immediate future will develop.

It may go around the circuit, but he has the old patent medicine exhorter, putting on a show and the faring forth to the next stop. Nicky Fella, he says, wants him to promote a race track and he is considering it. Other points, including Road and Rapid City, S. D., have been mentioned with requests for personal appearances and he likes that racket too.

But, if he can only get a break he wants more than anything else to spend the summer promoting at Ebbets Field. He wants only fights that will get him money and bring him prestige. Therefore, he has signed no one to date and, unless he sees something pretty good, he seems prepared to go right on signing no one.

Liska Is Latest Underhand Pitcher

WASHINGTON, April 25.—The fast-vanishing race of underhand pitchers will not die out if Ad Liska, submarine twirler obtained by Washington from Minneapolis, lives up to the promise he showed in exhibition games this spring. Liska's most impressive performance was his feat in holding the New York Giants to one hit in six innings here recently.

Curiously enough, Liska's opponent in that game was Carl Mays, one of the few surviving members of the submarine tribe. Their most famous predecessors were Jack Warhop, of the New York Yankees, and Joe McGinnity, the iron man who switched to the underhand delivery because of a sore arm.

Liska is the only new submarine twirler seen in the big leagues in many years.

It's "Rough On The Rookies"

THE LANKY YANKEE OUTFIELDER WAS FORCED OUT LATE LAST SEASON BY A BROKEN WRIST BUT IS PROUDLY AROUND AGAIN AS A REGULAR.

By QUIN HALL
It's almost as difficult for a rookie outfielder to break into the New York Yankees club as it is for the proverbial camel to slip through the eye of a needle. Every spring Miller Huggins has a few recruit outfielders working out with his gang, at St. Petersburg but, when he gets out his pining knife, he usually starts with the gardeners and, by the middle of the summer, there remain only the old hired hands to do outfield ball hawking for the Yanks.

This year has been no exception to the rule. When the squad gathered in Florida, Huggins had three rookies in the outfield. There were Funk, the low who played with St. Paul in the American Association last year; Byrd, who was with Albany in the Eastern League; and Austin Outen, the college chap from North Carolina University, who got in a jam with Commissioner Landis right at the start of his career by accepting bonuses from both the Yankees and the Charlotte club of the South Atlantic League.

Of the three, Byrd seemed the most promising. Sam, who could make a nice living if he cared to go in for golf as seriously as he has taken up baseball, hit .371 with Albany in 1928.

Byrd has been hustling hard for a job with the world champs. Elias Funk is also crowding some of the old standbys.

But Huggins has Durst and Paschal, in addition to the famous combination of Combs, Ruth and Beisel, and so it's a fairly hard task for a young fellow to whittle his way into the Yankee outfield. The two Huggins reserves are good ball hawks, and Paschal can hit hard against port-side pitching.

The youngsters who went South with the club as tentative gardeners this spring may have anticipated an extra opportunity was at hand; thus establish a new record in the league. Earle Combs finished last American League.

TOKYO, April 25.—During 1928 the foreign visitors to Japan numbered 12,631, among them the Chinese occupying foremost rank in respect to numbers, with 5,672, followed by American tourists with 3,240, and British with 1,877.

Soviet Russia visitors numbered 370, as did the visitors from France. Germans numbered 264 and Filipinos 150.

The number of Italian visitors during the year was 44 and that of Dutch 50. Comparatively a large percentage of the foreign visitors was registered by Indians, who numbered 75.

School Teacher In Controversy Over Evolution

N. B. Benfield, Supervising
Principal At West Pottstown, Pa., In Difficulty

CITIZENS AROUSED OVER TEACHINGS

PORTSTOWN, Pa., April 25.—Controversy over teaching of the evolution theory by N. B. Benfield, supervising principal of the West Pottstown township schools, flared today to the point where Benfield hired a constable to protect him on his way to school.

Future to re-employ a fourth grade school teacher added fuel to the wrath of citizens of the school district. Seventy-five angry parents held a meeting last night and made plans to force the re-employment of Miss Esther M. Wahlen, of Shenandoah, the discharged instructor. No legal action is contemplated against Benfield, but the fight over teaching of the evolution theory will be taken to the State department of Public Instruction, according to Carl Pickard, one of the 200 residents petitioning for retention of Miss Wahlen.

Pupils who told their parents Benfield had drawn pictures of animals on the school blackboards to illustrate man's descent from lower life forms fanned the flames of resentment against him. Benfield admitted teaching evolution, declaring that it could not be neglected in any comprehensive high school curriculum.

The citizens' committee designated to take the fight to the State department at Harrisburg will report May 1.

TRAFFIC OFFICER URGES REFORMS

Tommy Jones Has Some Suggestions For City Betterment

Traffic Officer Thomas Jones, who is stationed at Mill and Washington streets, has a suggestion or two that is timely and would add to the appearance of the downtown streets of the city.

He suggests that coal dealers refrain from heaping up such large loads of coal on their trucks that there is a constant danger of some of the coal dropping to the street in the business district.

This is not only dangerous to the pedestrians, who are in danger of being struck by the falling coal, but also to windows of downtown stores and persons going along the sidewalk. A passing car often shoots these pieces of coal with great force out from its under their rubber tires.

Latin Program At Washington

Winners Of Recent Latin
Contest Are Also Honored

MANY PUPILS IN PROGRAM OF DAY

Pupils of the George Washington junior high school witnessed a Latin program presented by members of the school's Latin club when they assembled for their regular weekly service this morning. Miss Bertha Osterfender, Latin instructor and supervisor of the club, was in general charge.

The Roman style show came first on the program, depicting the dress worn in Rome and other Italian cities when Caesar ruled the land. Costumes were designed by the students and their mothers and gave an appropriate touch to the Latin assembly.

Aiken Chairman
Robert Aiken was chairman for the morning, and it was he who introduced the Roman models and explained the costume that each wore. The program as given by the students and those who participated follows:

I. Roman style show.
II. Song "O Abies" by Nerina DeLille.
III. Orchestra selection under the direction of Miss Elizabeth Owens.
IV. Exercise in word building: The following pupils participated: Louis Casselman, William Duff, Samuel Gaston, Michael Gannon, William Kelly, Gerald Ramsey, David Long, George Mase, Donald Rhodes, Clyde Shannon, Thomas Stevenson, Robert Wilkins, Jane Allen, Jeanne Book, Gladys Callahan, Betty Crane.

Eleanor Gibson, Gertrude Graham, Mary Johns, Harriet Kline, Frances Long, Elizabeth McNab, Nettie Irene Mann, Mary Jane Metzler, Gretchen Myers, Pauline Nelson, Georgia Parker, Suzanne Powell, Emily Reynolds, Gretchen Smith, Lois Smith, Gertrude Pails, Martina Hite, Anna Kennedy, Mary Lou McCamie and Lois Curry.

V. "America" in Latin—Entire chorus.
VI. Play, "What's the Use?" characters were: William Kelly, David Long, James Kirkpatrick, Lois Smith and Gertrude Graham.

Following the special numbers, Principal B. K. Thacker and several students made the regular announcements. In speaking of the recent Latin tournament awards he praised the Washington winners for their unexcelled ability. He said that in winning the students are those deserving of credit and not so much the school. The individuals are responsible for it and to those individuals the honor must go, even though the honor does reflect upon Washington, he said.

Mr. Thacker announced each winner and congratulated them. George Washington, as in many years past with the exception of last year, won the last junior high school tournament on April 30. Those of Washington who placed high were as follows: Perry Reicher, summa cum laude; Robert Ailey, magna cum laude, and honorable mention went to Florence Saphier.

Other announcements regarding George Washington's standing in the city thrift competition, and that Perry Reicher, who placed first in the Latin exam, would represent the school in the city-wide marble tournament. Reicher won his first place position in the school elimination this week.

A number of parents and friends of the pupils attended the program this morning and greatly enjoyed the work of the boys and girls under Miss Osterfender's direction.

Stocks Drift To Low Levels

Industrial Stocks Drift Off
In Face Of Tightening
Of Call Loan Money

By W. S. COUSINS
International News Service Financial Editor

NEW YORK, April 25.—Industrial stocks drifted off to a lower level of prices today under the combined effect of a tightening of money rates, with call loans back to 9 per cent, uneasiness over the "brokers loan" situation, heavy profit taking by the bulls and short selling by the professionals who figured that the market was "due for a reaction."

The usual Thursday nervousness made itself felt about the time that the weekly guesses on the amount of the increase in brokers' loans began to filter into Wall Street.

The three week's consecutive record of loan decreases are about to be interrupted, because of the flaring up of the bull movement in the stock market this week and many of the conservative stock leaders believe that the market should have been permitted to "correct itself" still further by keeping up the reduction in loans to about $500,000,000.

Right from the start the industrial stocks showed that they were not in a position to keep up the advancing pace set by the steels, motors, oils and other stocks at the turn of the week. Industrial shares were pushed on the market at lower prices, the best grade stocks declining with the rest. The pools marked up a few of the specialties a point or two, which is a difficult process in a manipulated market. Selling pressure increased as the day advanced and the course of prices dropped definitely downward in the early afternoon.

Bethlehem steel lost about 2 points at 112 1/8 and U. S. Steel was off 1/4 at 155 1/2. General Motors swung off about 2 points to 84 1/2. Radio broke to below 100. Pan American Petroleum 2 points and Simms 2.

attendance. Except for a few bruises, the child was apparently unharmed by
